Old Buff and Blue

Old Buff and Blue, long life to you—
May still your sons be staunch and true;
May every year that swells your days
Add to your glory and your praise,
And write your name where men may view.

Your years are many, ours are few,
The lure of life for us is new;
The sun for us doth stand at gaze,
Old Buff and Blue.

As you each set of sons review,
And in them feel your youth renew,
Remember, as they go their ways,
Their thoughts to you they ever raise,
And live that they may praise you, too,
Old Buff and Blue.

VERA ELSIE ADAMS.

District of Columbia.
Degree: B.A.; Classical Club.

In Miss Adams, let me introduce you to our most noted linguist, known to all for her devotion to study in general and that of languages in particular. Not satisfied with attaining distinction in the usual classical and modern tongues, she has given some of her time to the study of Hebrew. Her ability in French is especially notable, and she holds the enviable position of Secretary of the French Club.

NELLIE ECKER BESSELIEVRE.

X Ω

Pennsylvania.

Class Secretary, 1905-'06, 1906-'07; Senior Class Editor, University Hatchet and THE CHERRY TREE, 1908-'09; Degree: B.S.

Nellie Ecker Besselievre, the smallest girl in our class, has the longest name. When she first came to George Washington from the Eastern High School in 1905 her classmates tried to call her Bessie, but she soon made a name for herself. Now she is busy filling her duties as Senior Editor and using her privileges as such to the full extent.

CHARLES H. BOWKER.

District of Columbia.
Rifle Team.

The smiling countenance of this distinguished citizen (minus the beard) first beamed upon the landscape an unrecorded number of moons ago. Beyond the fact that he is a resident of the District little is known of his present, and we forbear to publish his past.

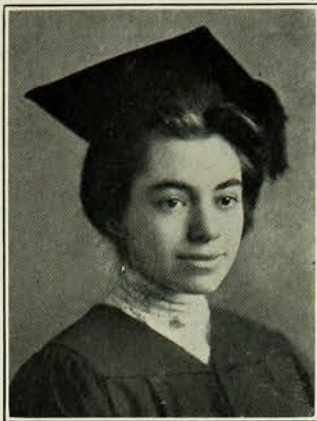

MARY PAUL BRADSHAW.

District of Columbia.
Degree: B.A.

We had hoped to be able to divulge some of the deep secrets of the educational mysteries of the Washington Public Schools, but teachers are very silent except when in the classroom. Does the additional height of a platform have the beneficial effect?

LILIAN CLAIRE CASH.

New York.

Degree: B.A.; University Scholarship.

Lilian is known to all her friends for her propensity for losing things, which is equalled only by her devotion to chemistry and any of the "ologies" in which she can find courses. Like most scientists she is sometimes absent-minded, and when not studying French is apt to be seen looking for some misplaced book or lesson. Her unfailing good humor, however, is never lost.

CHRISTINE MERRICK CHURCH.

District of Columbia.

Degree: B.A.; Classical Club.

Your attention is called to our songstress—the first soprano of one of our leading churches and the director of the once-famous George Washington University Girls' Glee Club. Oh! what has become of it? Such were the harmonies that once arose from West Hall on Glee Club rehearsal days that—but we will leave you to imagine the result.

RUTH GILBERT COCHRAN.

Π Β Φ

Colorado.

Vice-President, 1907-'08; Classical Club; Degree: B.A.

As brilliant as the day is long. Miss Cochran graduated from Western in 1905. She has specialized in modern languages, and her translations have aroused the interest of Dr. Schoenfeld. Her fame has spread so far that she is now Chairman of the Senior Play Committee.

MAY THACHER COOKE.

Colorado.

Degree: B.A.; Columbian Women.

May did not stay long in Wisconsin. She went to the progressive State of Colorado, then came East. On entering George Washington she began a truly historical career. Is there any course in History that she has not taken? She is also noted among her friends for her stock of supplies and her ready advice.

MARIAN EDITH CRAIG.

Σ K

Missouri.

Degree: B.A.; Classical Club.

"Baby" hails from Missouri, and we must not be surprised if she sometimes has to be shown. From the Class of 1905, Central High School, she entered G. W., where her mathematical ability has been a joy to her professors. In fact, she talked, thought and dreamed of nothing but mathematics until "Rena" appeared on the scene. Since then their histories have been so closely linked together that for any further details see "Rena's" history in THE CHERRY TREE, 1910.

JOSEPH RYLAND CURL.

K Σ II

District of Columbia.

Degree: B.S.; Fraternity Editor, The Hatchet, 1906-'07; Class Treasurer, 1905-'06; Secretary, 1905-'06; Commodore, 1907; G. W. U. Canoe Club; Rooters' Club; Chief Cheer Leader, Football Games, 1908; President, First Term, Enosinian, 1908-'09; President, Freshman L.L.B. Class, 1908-'09; "Union;" Minstrel Show, 1908; Treasurer, Democratic Club, 1908-'09.

To look at the list of honors and clubs and various college interests, you might think that Joe's whole life centered around the George Washington University. But you are entirely mistaken. His most important study just now is in an entirely different course—Mr. Curl is deeply interested in the teaching system in the public schools here.

FRANZ FRIEDRICH WILHELM DAHN.

K Σ II

Minnesota.

Degree: B.S.; Enosinian; Theronian.

A man with a good old German name like that, too long to use all of it, must have innumerable nicknames. He certainly has close friends, though, for they would not give any of them away. Mr. Dahn's favorite pastimes are speech-making and dancing with an Indian tribe. Have heard some of the oratorical efforts, but have never seen the dance. Mr. Dahn, won't you please give an Indian dance on Class Night?

HENRY W. DRAPER.

District of Columbia.

Degree: B.A.

Henry W. Draper is the principal of the Munroe School and is, so we hear, the terror of all small-sized evil-doers in that vicinity. He owns a "dry-goods-box-by-the-sea" at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware. In the summer, when he is not piloting parties of school teachers around Europe, he resides at this palatial residence.

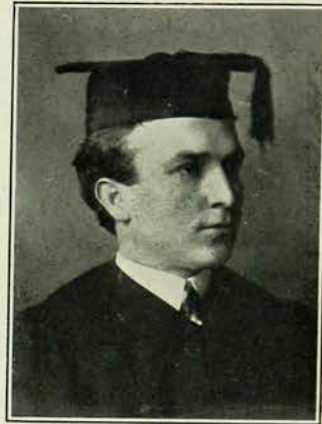

ANNE LEE ETTENGER.

X Ω

Indiana.

Social Editor, The Hatchet, 1907-'08 and 1908-'09; Degree: B.A.

This spunky little girl caused much trouble, excitement and still more amusement in her Freshman year, but, strange to relate, has become more staid and dignified since she has had a call in the editorial line.

FRANK OREAR EVERETT.

Missouri.

Degree: B.A.

Mr. Everett entered George Washington University in the senior year, taking his earlier work at the Baker University. In connection with his academic work Mr. Everett has also taken two years in the Law School. After receiving his B.A. he intends to finish his course in Law, and after obtaining the L.L.B. will begin the practice of law.

CHARLOTTE R. FARRINGTON.

Π Β Φ

Minnesota.

Class Secretary, 1908-'09; Degree: B.A.

Miss Farrington was Secretary of the Class of 1905 of the Western High School. The Class of 1909, G. W. U., has chosen the same honor for her. She has waded through four years of mathematics and intends to teach it next year. There is no place like Minneapolis for Miss Farrington, and who knows—maybe Washington will soon no longer be graced with her presence.

MILDRED FLOYD JOHNSTON.

X Ω

District of Columbia.

Class Secretary, 1907-'08; Vice-President, 1908-'09; Degree: B.A.

Mathematician, educator, scientist, linguist, amateur actor, advocate of Woman's Rights and proficient artist in the field of domestic science—did you ever see such a versatile Co-Ed.? And just imagine, she never loses sleep or her temper under the weighty load of all these interests!

LILLIE V. KEATHLEY.

North Carolina.
Degree: B.A.

Miss Keathley has not been with us throughout her course, but decided that her diploma would be of more value to her if it came from George Washington, and so has joined the Class of 1909. She is an advocate of outdoor sports and her skill as a tennis player is equalled only by her fluency as a talker.

TENCH TILGHMAN MARYE.

District of Columbia.

University Scholarship; Enosinian; Alternate in Enosinian-Columbian Debate, 1906; Treasurer of the "Union," 1908-'09; Degree: B.A.

Mr. Marye divides his time between talking and dancing. Now, that sounds very frivolous, doesn't it? and no one would ever consider him so. He talks—but to the point—usually when on a debating team or at class meeting; and he dances—whenever he gets a chance.

ROY LYMAN JOSEPH NEWHOUSER.

Φ Δ X

Pennsylvania.

Class Treasurer, 1905-'06; Class Eleven, 1906-'07; Captain, Basket Ball Team, 1907-'08; Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE, 1907-'08; Y. M. C. A.; Manager of Track Meet, 1909; Minstrel Show, 1908.

He is one of our well-rounded students, dividing his time equally between business, home and social life. Where does the study come in? Prominent in college life, he is also an ardent advocate of outdoor sports and is an expert at skating, RIDING, walking, tennis and golf playing. Mr. Newhouser's favorite occupation is snipe-hunting.

MARGARET NEWTON.

South Carolina.

Degree: B.A.; Classical Club.

Margaret Newton is one of the most brilliant Latin students in the University, and, therefore, the pride of Dr. Carroll's heart. We all like Margaret; I don't think any one could name an enemy of hers. Our advice to her is stop taking so many educational studies and to come tell us how far removed that cousin is.

EDGAR CORDELL POWERS.

A B Φ

Maryland.

Secretary of Religious Work in College Y. M. C. A.; Degree: B.A.

Edgar Cordell Powers is a minister. Was it necessary to tell this dear brother's vocation? Do not his manner and his sombre garb betray it? He preaches on Sundays at the Brookland Methodist Church (on week-days at college). Mr. Powers has a remarkably good delivery and displays it on every occasion.

LAURA SHACKLEFORD.

District of Columbia.
Degree: B.A.

Here, ladies and gentlemen, is a worthy representative of the public schools of Washington. She is very zealous in her endeavor to instruct the rising generation, giving special attention to spelling, and teaches the youthful mind to remember long words, such as Mi-ss-i-ss-i-pp-i. She has, therefore, paid special attention to Education. We wish her all success in her work.

JAMES HOUSTON SHRADER

District of Columbia.

Degree: B.A.; "Union;" Class Eleven, 1907.

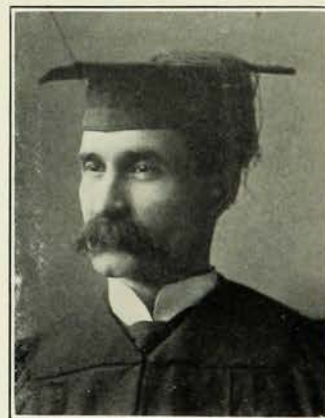

Has he finally decided what class he belongs to? At first he had the idea he was a Junior, and took it upon himself to call a class meeting. Being completely annihilated for that, he swerved from his allegiance and now honors us with his presence. Mr. Shrader has taken the college course in three years.

HENRY NATHANIEL SISCO.

District of Columbia.
Degree: B.A.

Mr. Sisco is one of those marvelous persons who take double courses. In his four years of college life he has taken both the medical and college course, and is expecting to receive both an M.D. and a B.A. in June. Previously Mr. Sisco taught for several years. After his graduation he is going to enter the practice of medicine.

Maxwell's date is June 24, 1885. Let every one take particular notice and count up the years correctly. It is by special request that these figures are given, as our honored President wishes every one to know that he is over eighteen. For further information see his shadow.

"First in name, first in French and first in the hearts of the ladies" (one in particular). From whence he came sufficient space is not allotted to say. Kemp is an "all-around" fine fellow and we predict a career of fame for him after he gets started. But how to get started? Suggestions will be cheerfully received.

RAYMOND EDMOND ADAMS.

Pennsylvania.

Degree: B.S. in C.E.

Born some 34 years ago in New Jersey and graduated from the Central High School of Philadelphia, in June, 1891. He saw service in the Spanish-American War and then came to Washington as civil engineer under the War Department. Two little brothers and a sister will see papa get a B.S. in C.E. degree in June if French and German don't stand in the way.

ARA MARCUS DANIELS, JR.

K Σ II.

District of Columbia.

Schmidt Prize, 1906; President, Class 1907-'08, 1908-'09; Degree B.S. in E.E.

This distinguished gentleman, twice honored by being made President of his class, is the product of the Technical High of this city, class of '04. He threw in his lot with us the same year and has been with us ever since. He is at present employed in the Navy Department, but hopes to practice his profession in the near future.

Class Eleven, 1905-'06 and 1906-'07; Class Athletic Manager, 1906-'07; Varsity Eleven, 1907; Treasurer, Senior Engineers, 1908-'09; Degree: B.S. in E.E.

This young lad was reared in the wilds of Georgetown and came to us from the Western High School. He finishes his work in engineering this year and it is his intention to study (?) patent law next year. He loves the ladies, and—if we accept his word for it—this affection is more than reciprocated.

WILLIAM FREDERICK NICKEL.

Maryland.

Degree: B.S. in E.E.

"Old Nick" is not quite as strenuous as his namesake, but is a "hot member" just the same. He was born in the distant past, and is only taking engineering to broaden his mind, as he expects to continue to hold on to his fat job in the Patent Office for some years to come.

PHILIP HENRY WARD, JR.

District of Columbia.

Muth Prize, 1907; Member of the "Union;" Class Editor of THE CHERRY TREE, 1909; Vice-President, Senior Engineers, 1908-'09; Degree: B.S. in E.E.

Class History

SEPTEMBER 25, 1906, made memorable in University history by the entrance at George Washington of the now illustrious Junior Class, sank into temporary insignificance as compared with September 30, 1908, when these erstwhile Freshies came back with fear and trembling at the thought of assuming the obligations and grave responsibilities incident to "upper class" circles. The fact that our predecessors had survived the ordeal, leaving only a few by the wayside to have greater glory added to them by becoming identified with the Class of 1910, greatly encouraged us, and finding that the third-year subjects yielded readily before the colossal brains of this aggregation (Class of 1910), we find it fitting to bask again in the sweet and mellow memories of the interim from our earliest experience to date.

That the cry, "Freshman! Freshman!" as it rang in appealing tones through Walla Walla Hall in the late '06, constitutes one of the earliest memories of this class, accounts for the fact that it has been on the warpath ever since, carrying everything before it as it did on the earlier occasion. In obedience to the unwritten law that no Freshman team shall win a football game from the Sophs., we met the latter on one October day in 1906 with the determination that this law should be observed by only the smallest margin, and accordingly the final score was 5 to 4 in their favor. The Freshmen made the first score, but during a mix-up and a fumble one of the opponents got the ball, and after a moment, to overcome his own surprise, he sprinted down the field in record time that never before or since has been equaled in the annals of the gridiron, thus crediting to the Sophs. the coveted five.

The next year we went in to show how a Soph. team ought to win, and by up-to-date, scientific football we handed the Freshmen a defeat of 10 to 0. That this victory was especially creditable will be verified by the following extract from one of the daily papers giving an account of the contest:

"At one point a halt in the proceedings was called, and the captains of the two teams were seen to consult together for a short time. A moment later the twelfth Freshman left the line of scrimmage and walked sadly off the field."

It is strange what a football spirit has possessed this class, as many of the Juniors were found scattered promiscuously on both the Freshman and Sophomore teams in the annual contest of 1908.

Some members of this class, finding that the curriculum at George Washington failed to tax the full capacity of their mental gymnastics, hied themselves away to other prominent institutions of learning, where they have been pulling down both scholastic and athletic honors.

The present year was unmarked by anything especially eventful, since great deeds have ceased to be strangers to us. Our dance, in accord with expectations, received first honors, most of the examinations passed with E's, and we serve generally as a leaven to the social and intellectual life of the University.

The Class of 1910 is a wonderful combination, possessing remarkable traits and characteristics peculiarly its own. Among our members there are those who have broken the bounds of a narrow college life and as an example of successful administration have invaded the field of politics and brought the same into our midst. Others represent the class in from first to fourth year subjects, while the attractive influence of the co-eds extends throughout the college and where college life is a memory.

With all past glories it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but when September, 1909, shall have come, we shall be fully prepared to enter upon the deep and dignified life of Seniority.

Sophomore History

WE'RE a new thing down at G. W. U.—a Sophomore class with a proper conception of our worth—or lack of it. Perhaps this is due to the professors, for while the Freshmen should arrive humble and the Seniors acquire humility, we have had humility thrust upon us. The Sophomore year is exactly like the week after mid-year's—one feels an irresistible desire to relax, to step aside and peacefully watch the tide (of classes) go by.

We showed our lack of exclusiveness by welcoming the Freshman enthusiastically, and a number of us were present at his first class meeting, but we were unable to exert sufficient moral influence to prevent the appropriation of all of the offices of the class by a select few—selected by themselves—not to mention some offices they created in loving memory of Old Hickory. They came out and took a walk with us for their amusement and the edification of the populace, and had such a good time that the class orator, editor, etc., danced a jig in his enthusiasm, and ye honorable president was “unavoidably detained.” But we came to bury the Freshman, not to praise him, so a little later we met him on the football field, and ably seconded by the eloquence of his quarterback, defeated him. Football, my children, is played with the feet and the head, and though you certainly have the feet, you cannot be expected to have as much head as the Sophomores, no matter how much it is swollen.

The Freshmen cheated us of the opportunity to raid their refreshments at their dance, but if we didn't get them one way we did in another—so much more dignified, but quite as effective—for we turned out en masse. The Sophomore dance had all the charm of the unexpected—for the Sophomores. The rest of the college, dear innocents, never wavered in their faith—but they weren't acquainted with the treasurer and hadn't been spending all their spare time dodging him or his satellite. Anyhow, it was a success, and the crowd was flattering, though a bit appalling.

An innovation of ours that was appreciated by us was the class smoker, which, though the girls all had engagements elsewhere, was yet well supported by them—an indication of our broad-mindedness, which scorns to make individual distinctions by taxing only parts of the class for the part's enjoyment.

We haven't done much else except attend a class here and there and present a calm and unhurried example for the ingenuous and perturbed Freshmen. As to the mid-year's, we came, we saw, we fled, and later held post-mortems after time-honored custom. Some of the post-mortems aren't over yet, worse luck! But we'll emerge unruffled in the end, thanks to our own engaging dispositions and our motto, under which “we meet in peace.”

Preface

THE list of illustrious names which follows is the roll of the Class of 1912, styled by its opponents, or rather its jealous rivals, whom it is rapidly displacing, as "Freshman." There is some propriety in the term, however, for these are fresh men, richly endowed with that vigor which their seniors once enjoyed, but no longer possess. The Class of 1912 is proud of its title "Freshman," and does not intend to relinquish it until some others come to displace it as it is invincibly pushing out those who precede.

That we are freshly and abundantly supplied with vigor and initiative is seen from the fact that we have done what no other class has accomplished: we have prevented a band of upper-classmen, many of whom wear the "W," from reaching our goal in the inter-class football game. This is an achievement of which to be proud, and we justly feel elated.

Another exhibition of our initiative was put forth in our class ball. This event not only far surpassed all class functions of previous years, but also all of this present year. This is not an empty vaunt, for the egotistical Sophomores, than whom there is no worse aggregation to be found, concurred in the unanimous congratulations received by President Lower and his several committees.

We have come in with a determination to outlive our misguided comrades, the Sophomores, so expect to hear from us later.

Division of Architecture

IN order to make this record of past events of value as an historical essay, it becomes necessary to refer to THE CHERRY TREE of last year and to The Mall of the preceding years, and separate from the flowery language of previous pen-pushers the true history of the Division of Architecture, from its earliest days down to the present time.

"It was in the peanut gallery of the main building," up the long, narrow, rickety stairs, about ten thousand years ago, as so nobly and poetically described in Billy's own truly pedantic style, "that the students of Architecture first stumbled over" the megalithic remains of Europe and Asia, penetrated into the very sarcophagus of Cheops, explored the great mastabas and the rock-cut temple of Beni-Hassan, and lost themselves in wonder and amazement at the great Ramesseum and the mighty temple of Amen-Ra at Karnak. It is a great regret to have to record that this hall of learning, this birthplace of a far-famed Atelier, is now a veritable den of iniquity. Here a local organization called the "Onion," a band of chess fiends and card sharks, cuts classes and carries out its nefarious transactions.

It has been a matter of several years' difficult work delving among ancient and time-worn parchments to locate the sacred ruins of the buildings occupied in the early years of the school. In the period between the early date and the present time the Division of Architecture became a child of adventure; indeed, there is not a shack nor shanty in all Washington that does not have on red-letter days a flaring sign proclaiming that

THIS BUILDING WAS ONCE THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE DIVISION OF ARCHITECTURE.

Thus it is evident that to follow its course, first here, then there, as if tossed by some gigantic storm upon the high sea, would be the work of a lifetime and its history would fill many volumes.

Let it suffice for the present on account of limited space that the Division of Architecture finally, in September, 1907, opened in No. 1536 I street, N. W., a building noted for its picturesqueness and for the many stories of ghosts and mummies told about it. The antiquity of this building is proved by the stories of Lysicrates, who is said to have hung suspended to the breezes for many days before the officers of the law, the custodians of the peace, demanded his removal and cremation. Some think that the ghost disappears when the body is entirely destroyed, yet there are some still among us who can testify that the spirit of Lysicrates, in spite of the cremation, has appeared upon more than one occasion.

When the present year commenced the most of last year's men returned, and, being swelled by a fine lot of hazing material, the Division of Architecture found itself full fifty strong.

The night of October 26th will ever be a memorable one to all of those that participated in the proceedings, whether willingly or not. That night, after a club meeting, strange things happened. The Freshmen figured prominently through the entire program. A big feast had been prepared for them—a feast of an indescribable character, yet so delicious and refreshing that all who partook threw away dull care, waxed merry and became wild, and paraded the streets of this burg until the dawn of the next day.

The Division of Architecture sent four men out for the football team this season. Two of these won the much-prized symbol of honor and glory, the "W," while the other two received the "G. W."

It was just before the Bucknell game, on Thanksgiving Day, that we purchased our banner, which may be seen in the class photograph. This banner is an object of admiration and pride, and is brought out on every eventful day. It headed the parade and became very prominent on the day when G. W. U. and Bucknell played their famous tie game.

When the Minstrel Show organized for this season, the Architects turned out in full force, as they did last year, and one of their number was elected to the position of Musical Director. Nearly all of them are trying to be chorus girls in "College Life," Mr. Scantling's musical comedy, which will be the second part of the Minstrel Show.

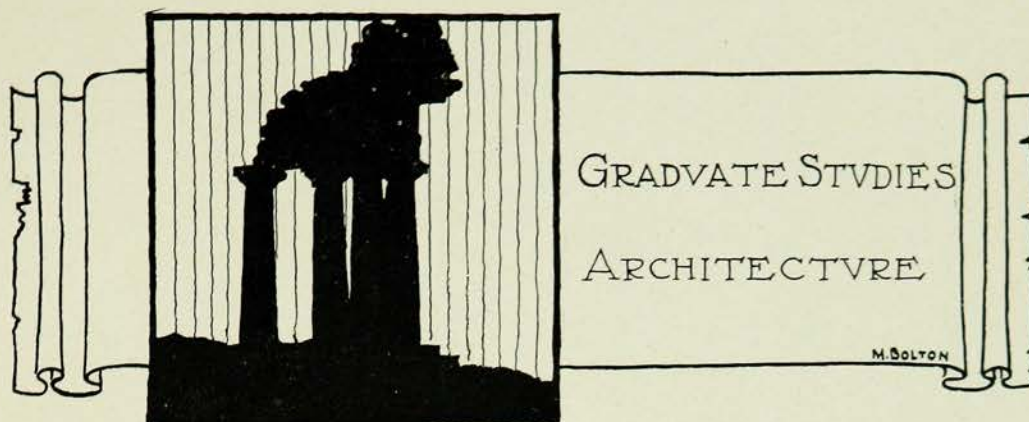

On Monday night, December 7th, there was a big mass-meeting and the students divided into three classes, and each class then elected its officers for the year. At the next meeting of the Association of Class Presidents the Senior, Sophomore and Freshmen Classes, Architecture, were represented by their presidents.

This year the students have been awarded many mentions in the Beaux Arts Class B problems, both in the plan and order. Some of the designs were: "An Elevated Railway Station," "An Aqueduct," "A Villa and Garden," "The Main Building of a Hospital" and "A Rostral Column."

The Division of Architecture ranks with the very best schools of Architecture in this country, and it must, indeed, be a great institution when an architect like Mr. Kelsey, speaking in public, said that the School of Architecture in this city, that of George Washington University, under the direction of Prof. Percy Ash, was turning out many excellent designers.

WITH one exception, the Division of Education is the latest addition to the colleges and divisions of the George Washington University, and its rapid growth since its organization in 1907 affords substantial evidence of the active demand in Washington for the collegiate training of teachers. During the first year 85 students, including 8 graduate students, were registered, most of them being teachers in service. Now there are 138 undergraduate students registered, of whom 95 are teachers in active service. There are also 7 graduate students taking a major or a minor in Education, while a number of undergraduate students registered in other departments are pursuing educational courses.

A separate building is devoted to the work in Education and Psychology, two subjects necessarily closely related. In addition to offices, class and lecture rooms, the Education building accommodates a department library, well supplied with books and periodicals pertaining to Education and Psychology, and a psychological laboratory, which affords adequate facilities for the investigation of psychological problems relating to Education.

The Washington Normal School offers excellent facilities for the practical training of teachers for the elementary schools, but the Division of Education has so far placed the chief emphasis on the preparation of teachers for secondary and higher schools and for administrative positions. It is generally admitted that a broad academic training is needed as preparation for high school teaching, but special training also is now being more and more demanded. Knowledge of a subject does not necessarily imply the ability to teach that subject, while experience alone is likely to lead to bad teaching habits and to a limited and distorted view of educational aims. The purpose of professional training is to remove these limitations and to give to teaching a basis in sound theory. This implies the acquisition and application of fundamental principles, and not merely the mastery of those methods and devices which too often constitute the whole of the teacher's training. The aims of the Division of Education are, therefore, to aid in raising the work of the teacher to the rank of a profession, to prepare students for the higher positions in educational service, and to advance the knowledge of educational science.

The rapid increase in the attendance, and the many favorable comments received from various sources, bespeak for the Division of Education a large and influential future.

Tale of a Clam

He never saw a football game,
Or bought the college paper ;
To basket-ball he never came,
He never cut a caper.
He never lingered in the hall
To talk awhile and smoke,
Or patronized the Students' Ball,
Or told a funny joke.
He never shot a game of pool,
Or stayed out late at nights,
Or cut a class or played the fool,
Or got in any fights.
He's now a B.S., Ph. D.,
In Greek and Latin strong,
A learned man, but still he'll be
A Clam his whole life long.

JAMES JOSEPH LESTER BROOKS,

A K K,

District of Columbia.

Class Secretary, 1905-'06; Designer of Class Pin; Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1906; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1907; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1908; Class Editor of THE CHERRY TREE; Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society.

James Joseph Lester Brooks is his full name, but the girls call him "Lester" and like him. He is particularly adapted in disposition to follow in his father's footsteps, and Lester takes mighty long strides. He is beloved alike by his professors, classmates and all who come in contact with him. We prophesy success for him.

SIDNEY LOVETT CHAPPELL,

A B Φ.

District of Columbia.

Sidney is a native of Tennytown, at which place he will doubtless practice as his father's assistant, if he doesn't get "tied up" at the University Hospital. At present he seems to be in imminent danger, because it takes "Sid." twice as long to learn a thing as it does anybody else.

ALBERT PATTON CLARK,

Σ X.

District of Columbia.

National College of Pharmacy, 1905; Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07; Class Vice-President, 1907-'08.

Mr. Clark has been class referee, and we have often felt that in trying to be just to us he has been a little harsh with the professors. We are certain that had Mr. Clark taken the five-year course he would have been president next year (Mr. Bryan, feel encouraged). He anticipates obtaining in some medical school the chair of "Pose and Facial Expression in the Treatment of Diseases."

JAMES CLEVELAND COLLINS.

Φ X.

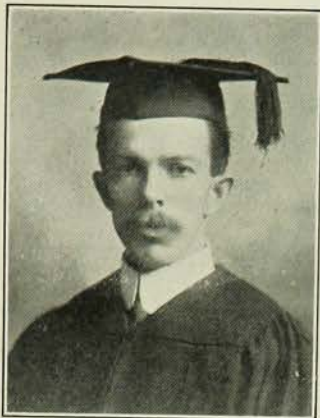

Virginia.

Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1906 and 1908; Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07-'08; Smoker Committee, 1905-'06-'07; Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society.

On November 15, 1884, somebody suggested that there was something wrong with the universe, and Jimmie promptly seconded the motion. He has an acute contagious disease, characterized clinically as continuous application to hard work, and scheduled to terminate favorably June 9, 1909. A man of fixed purpose and strong determination. Destined to succeed though all the hordes of Hell conspire against him.

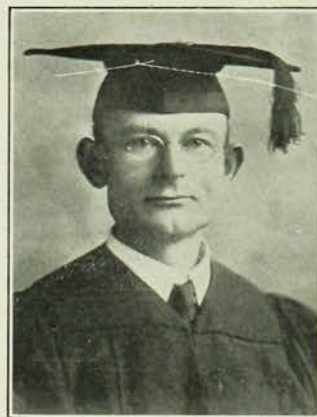

RUSH WEST CONKLIN.

Maryland.

Honor Committee, 1908; Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07.

Conklin was born at Laporte, Pa., March 15, 1877, and began his education in the Topeka (Kansas) public schools. He commenced his medical career in 1905, and as he is imbued with the seriousness of life, has added wisdom to the class councils. His studiousness will insure a continuance of the career so well begun.

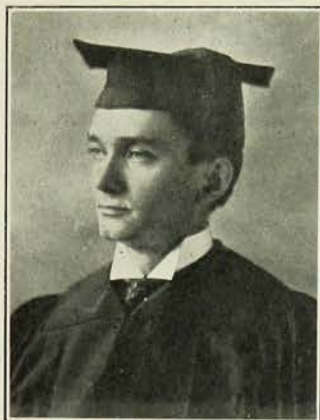

CLARENCE CHRISTIAN CRAFT.

South Carolina.

Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE, 1909.

Comes from a State where divorces are not allowed, and nature in her wisdom kindly made him bald-headed. Expects to graduate and will set up an office somewhere on the Atlantic Ocean.

ABNER BEEBE DUNN.

X Z X.

Pennsylvania.

Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society.

Mr. Dunn has been connected for four years with the University Hospital, and has, during his Senior year, conducted the medical book-store. He knows a good bargain. Dunn is kind, generous, obliging, and appreciates a good joke and a good time. He is by nature quiet, unobtrusive and peaceful, faithful and conscientious in all his work. We shall hear of him later in life.

CHARLES HARDY FAIR.

Σ X, Φ X.

Virginia.

Class Secretary, 1905-'06; Class President, 1906-'07.

Surgeon Fair adorned innocent little Warrenton, Va., with his childhood (the town couldn't help it). He is a self-made man, having received all of his financial assistance from home. From Charlie's threats, the Surgeon-General of the Army will have to "look handsome" to hold down his job, but "Little Nursie" may have something to say which may seriously alter this plan.

SANFORD WILLIAM FRENCH.

Σ Λ Ν, Φ Δ Θ, Α Κ Κ,

Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1907-'08; Class Editor, The Mall, 1907; Class Secretary, 1907-'08.

Yank (Sammy) (Little Family Doctor) was born in Flatbush, N. Y. Under Southern skies, however, he has thawed out, and can order the drinks all around without choking. After a brainstorm at Cornell he required three years at Guam to recuperate. He is very fond of policemen. Yank will marry and practice in busy little Ashburn, Va.

DAVID THOMAS GOCHENOUR.

Virginia.

Class Executive Committee, 1905-'06; Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society; Class Secretary, 1908-'09.

"Goky" entered the "world terrestrial" in Shenandoah county, Virginia, in 1880, and later graduated from Bridgewater College, escaping with a B.S. degree. He took a course in commerce and stenography, after which Uncle Sam, being the highest bidder, fell heir to his services. Because of his sterling qualities, his thorough, careful and consistent work, keep your eyes on "Goky."

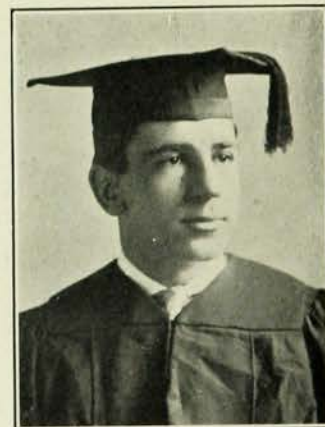

CLARENCE HERBERT GRIFFIN.

Φ Σ Κ,

Massachusetts.

B.S., Massachusetts Agricultural College.

This quizzical specimen of humanity first began to make funny noises September 26, 1882. Going on the supposition that only the good die young, we feel sure Griff has a long life of usefulness before him. A man with a sunny disposition, and one who has always held a good place in the opinions of his comrades.

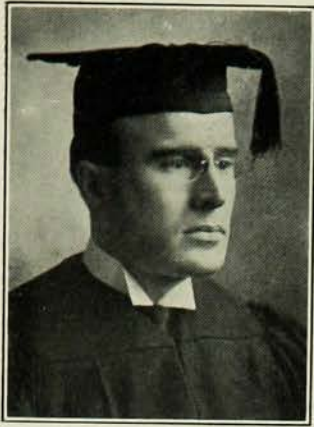

WILLIAM P. H. HABEL.

Α Κ Κ,

Pennsylvania.

W. P. H. H. made his first noise in this world some time ago, the number of years we can't obtain. He graduated from the National College of Pharmacy in 1903, and is pharmacist at the Casualty Hospital. Heinrich's object in life is to be the dean of a well-known medical college.

JOHN EMERY HASTINGS.

Θ Σ K, A K K, Θ N E.

New York.

After a temporary withdrawal because of imperative business interests, he returned for Senior work with '09 and brought back a welcome classmate already loyal to G. W. and its traditions. He has a becoming dignity, takes a keen interest in class affairs, and is devoted to his chosen profession. After a year of hospital work he expects to turn westward.

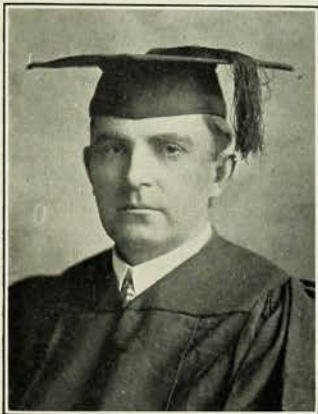

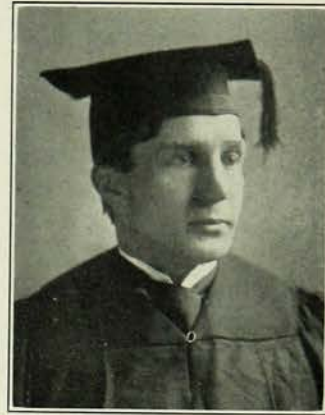

WILLIAM RUSSELL JOBSON.

Φ X,

Pennsylvania.

Class Treasurer, 1906-'07; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1907-'08;
Class Executive Committee, 1907-'08.

He has tossed about a great deal in life, to wit: witness his acrobatic stunts as physical director at the Y. M. C. A. In practice he will exemplify "a gentleman of the old school," reserved and professional with the sterner sex, very sympathetic and very tender with the gentler sex. He will probably kill less than his quota during his early practice.

EDWARD PERCY KENEIPP.

Illinois.

J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society.

Percy is an Illinois rail-splitter. Unless whiskers lie, he must be forty. Like the illustrious Lincoln, his sterling integrity and sticktoitiveness need no better light to give prospect to his future. When the roll is called and Dean Phillips proclaims his benediction, at that psychological moment he will be "Johnny on the spot." He is in the fight to win, and there is little doubt about his success.

B.S., Clemson Agricultural College, 1901.

Klugh was born in Greenwood, South Carolina, March 20, 1881, and graduated from Clemson Agricultural College in 1901. Klugh has proved to be a thorough student. In 1908 he became a member of the J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society. His modesty, geniality and friendliness have made him a favorite. We are sure Dr. Klugh will be a worthy accession to the medical profession.

The next is "Jennie," one of no small wit, humor, intellectuality and good feminine taste. Although born in Iowa, he spent his school days in Washington, and played major in the military organization of the High Schools. He began the study of medicine at Georgetown, but decided for the better and joined our class in 1906. Objects to the name of Ruth.

Takes kindly to the ways of civilization and particularly to dining out. Is a firm believer in Viavi as a therapeutic agent. Is addicted to kidding and is inconstant in his affections for the fair sex. In his unoccupied moments he is private secretary to his father and occasionally assists visiting constituents to see Washington. Aim in life, "bulldogs."

FREDERICK W. McKNIGHT.

Φ Δ Φ, Α Κ Κ.

Ohio.

Class Vice-President, 1906-'07; Class President, 1907-'08.

If looks count for anything, Mac was born about 1870. He began his career by studying law, then broke himself in the brokerage business, and finally began the study of medicine to "bury his mistakes." The most active and popular man in the class, and those wishing to follow his career may do so by glancing over the "Fire and Feather" journal.

WILLIAM FRANK MacLAUGHLIN.

Class Executive Committee, 1905-'06; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1906-'07-'08; President and Charter Member, the J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society; Class President, 1909.

Little Frankie broke into the family circle in 1882. The Human Phonograph has launched several medical societies, and was elected president against his vehement protest (?) Mac hankers after the navy, but the water does not agree with him. He will try a few months' apprenticeship as veterinarian on the "Sally Ann," plying between Cumberland and Georgetown, during the summer months.

HOWARD WILLIAM MCNEAIL.

"Little Eva."

K Σ, Ω Ψ Φ.

New York.

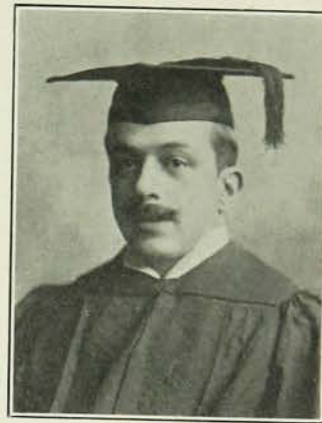

Externe Casualty Hospital, 1907-'08 and 1908-'09.

This happy youngster landed in New York, July 26, 1884. He absorbed knowledge at Bellevue Hospital and other places, and finally came to G. W. U. to be a real doctor. He is famous for the fact that he spends half of his time attending to his own business and the other half letting other people's business alone. Is ambitious to do something unusual.

LOUIS ANTHONY MICHELONI.

Uruguay, S. A.

Born January 12, 1878. After absorbing all the knowledge that could be furnished by the University of Montevideo, Micheloni decided to come to Washington to complete his education. He is an expert fencer, speaks four languages, and has traveled extensively. He will return to Uruguay to practice and will be successful.

Expert pool player; fair poker player; popular with the nurses. Pole does not drink, but is going to learn. The only time he was ever seen without his smile was when he heard from Dr. King.

ROBERT LLEWELLYN POWELL.

Virginia.

Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society; "W," 1908.

Powell began a career of distressing inactivity August 30, 1886. Substitute on football team '07-'08 and center '08-'09. This accounts for the fact that our team won the Southern championship. One of the original exponents of the water cure. He has ambition and ability to become a great diagnostician.

BENJAMIN RUSH RHEES.

Φ X.

District of Columbia.

Executive Committee, 1907-'08; Vice-President, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society, 1907-'08; Class Vice-President, 1909.

We call him "Rush," probably because it would seem natural to call him "Bennie." Genial to all, prepossessing in appearance, of good habits, and one of the best-liked men in the class. With his hospital experience after graduating Rush is destined to become a successful physician wherever he may practice. Expects to go abroad to continue his studies before launching himself on the public.

LAWRENCE JOSEPH SIMONTON.

Indiana.

Class Executive Committee, 1905-'06; Class Editor, The Mall, 1906; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1906.

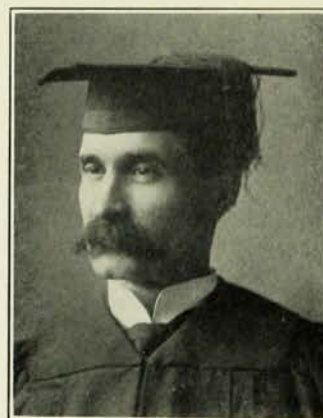

This ornament to the profession and to the Ford Thompson Surgical Society will "settle down" to private practice and "felicitous domesticity." He doesn't look his age, but he has been caught with the goods on. Larry is a good fellow and a bright student. We wish him success, and expect to see him some day at the top, where he belongs.

HENRY NATHANIEL SISCO.

Vermont.

A.B., Battle Creek College.

Born in Orleans county, Vermont, he spent the first years of his life on the farm, where he learned the art of lecturing to horses and cows and developed into a teacher of the higher animals. He has been connected with various institutions as professor of languages and mathematics. He delights in the acquisition of knowledge, and will make good in his chosen field.

SAMUEL JAY TURNBULL.

Sam was born in Florida and inherits his sunny disposition from his native soil. He has taken a complete course at Tulane, besides perfecting himself in art. He has made a specialty of osteology, especially the bones with numbers on them. Sam has a striking profile. He is the original ideal type produced by a local artist. He will locate in the "Shade."

FREDERICK WALTER VASENIUS.

Finland.

Charter Member, J. Ford Thompson Surgical Society.

Fred was born in Finland, November 3, 1873, and since then has had a most interesting career. He went to sea for six years and, after circumnavigating the globe, decided to live on a more solid foundation. Studied medicine to fit himself for the duties of a medical missionary. As he is master of five different languages, the foreign field will seem as home to him.

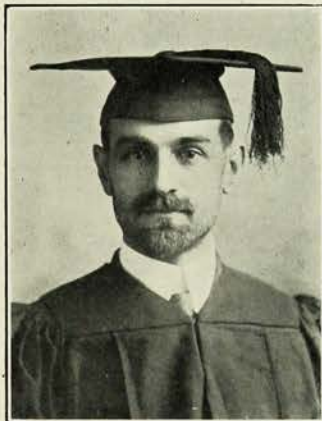

CLARENCE CONRAD WEIDEMANN.

Φ X.

District of Columbia.

"Yodeling Clarence," as his name indicates, is of German descent, and the Germans are the foremost in the advancement of medical science. He is the life of the class, the most generous, good-natured, happy "cuss" we have. The "prognosis" is excellent. A hard worker, clear thinker and ambitious. He expects to practice in Washington, D. C., where his hosts of friends are anxiously waiting for him.

GEORGE LEO WEILER.

Utah.

Class Executive Committee, 1906-'07.

In 1877, at Salt Lake City, Utah, George L. Weiler made his debut upon this mundane sphere. He has won athletic medals, served his country in the Spanish-American war, and has traveled extensively in Europe. In the ideal home of the genial Dr. Weiler and the charming Mrs. Weiler are found their two lovely children.

RICHARD CHARLES WEITHAS.

New York.

This young medico does not believe that water was made to be drunk. He is Past Grand Sachem of the Anti-Booze-Fighters' Club, and belongs to a society for the prevention of cruelty to cigarettes. Anyhow, Richard is all to the merry, good-humored and intellectual. He believes in making the most of life, hence is burdened with few cares.

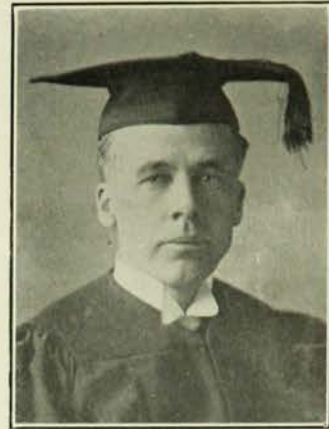

GERSHOM FRANKLIN WHITE.

N  $\Sigma$  N,  $\Gamma$  A.

Ohio.

B.S., Ohio University; Ph.D., Cornell University.

White began to collect degrees by attacking first the University of Ohio, then Cornell, finally G. W. U. He has been an honored member of the Class of '09, of whom we are justly proud. If any one has anything to say against White, he wants to be miles away from any member of the Class of '09 when he says it.

JOHN MITCHELL WILLIS.

"Billy."

$\Sigma$  X.

West Virginia.

Mitchell was born November 25, 1886, in West Virginia, hasn't scratched yet, and will make good. He knows what he knows when he knows it, and can tell you "barrels" of it on practice. He will practice almost anywhere but at Clip, West Virginia. At present Billy is the little wonder at Sibley Hospital.

WILLIAM PLEASANT WOOD.

Ohio.

Class Editor, the University Hatchet, 1905-'06-'07-'08; Floor Committee, Students' Ball, 1907 and 1908; Acting Manager, Basket Ball Team, 1907; Captain, Varsity Scrubs, 1907; Substitute Quarterback, Varsity Eleven, 1907; Member Track Team, 1907-'08; "W" Man, 1908.

"Our Billy" possesses an amusing wit and an interesting personality. That he is wise he demonstrated by coming all the way from Ohio to G. W. U.; that he is intelligent by preferring to be a "medicine man" in Washington to being a "squaw man" in the wilderness of Ironton.

JOHN PAUL FREY,  $\Sigma$  X,

The Hatchet Class

O the Third Year Class has come the proud distinction of being the Third Hatchet Class, our President having found the coveted talisman hidden by members of Hatchet Class II, on their graduation last June in accordance with the custom established by the Class of '05. It is our earnest desire that we may live up to the traditions set by our distinguished predecessors.

It's a short word that chronicles the doings of "Medical '10" since the last appearance of THE CHERRY TREE, and that word is W-O-R-K. Can any one of us soon forget the spring of 1908, made memorable by the study of Pathology? Say not so. The long weary hours spent on the dizzy heights of those laboratory stools—to say nothing of the hours in which the midnight oil was consumed, and the hours of dawning day, nervous, sleepless for many—have left an impression long to be remembered. The experience served to show us what we can do when the stress is upon us—and large "goose-eggs" glare at us. Truly it was the most strenuous time of our professional career, not barring even those distant days of '06, when we came together in our verdure wondering at the mysteries we were to encounter in our course.

During the present year our work is more interesting than ever, and we feel that our efforts are rewarded. No longer are we merely in the outskirts of preparation, but we are beginning to have something of the profession we have chosen, the taste of which gotten in our practical work in the hospitals has made us realize more and more our responsibilities.

Some names appearing on our class-roll are there for the first time. To the new men we have extended a welcome; we have learned their worth. Some familiar faces appear no more at our meetings. Whether they have fallen behind in their studies (Sh-h-h) or have sought more promising fields of work, we wish the absent all good fortune.

The years of our course are rapidly passing. Soon enough will come the parting where each goes his way to carve out his future after his own manner, and to each in the years to come will recur thoughts of the busy days and nights spent together, of the warm friendships formed, and it is hoped that in recalling the year each will “ * * * turn the clouds about,

And always wear them inside out,
To show the lining.”

Class History

WE have emerged from that young green state of Freshmenhood, and now assume a more developed form of existence. Our progress of development has been brought about by many difficulties and much hard work. So constantly and persistently have we attended to our studies that not even the happy thoughts of a class smoker could turn us away. The usual Sophomore-Freshman struggle, which was omitted last year, was not indulged in, but the Freshmen were permitted to come and leave the University in peace. About the only excitement thus far created was the attempt by several members of the class to revise certain of the text-books. Gray's Anatomy, Holland's Chemistry, Wilcox's Materia Medica and various other books were severely attacked on several occasions. Several members of the class have also done some ORIGINAL experimenting with certain of the drugs and acids, and it is generally understood that good results were obtained.

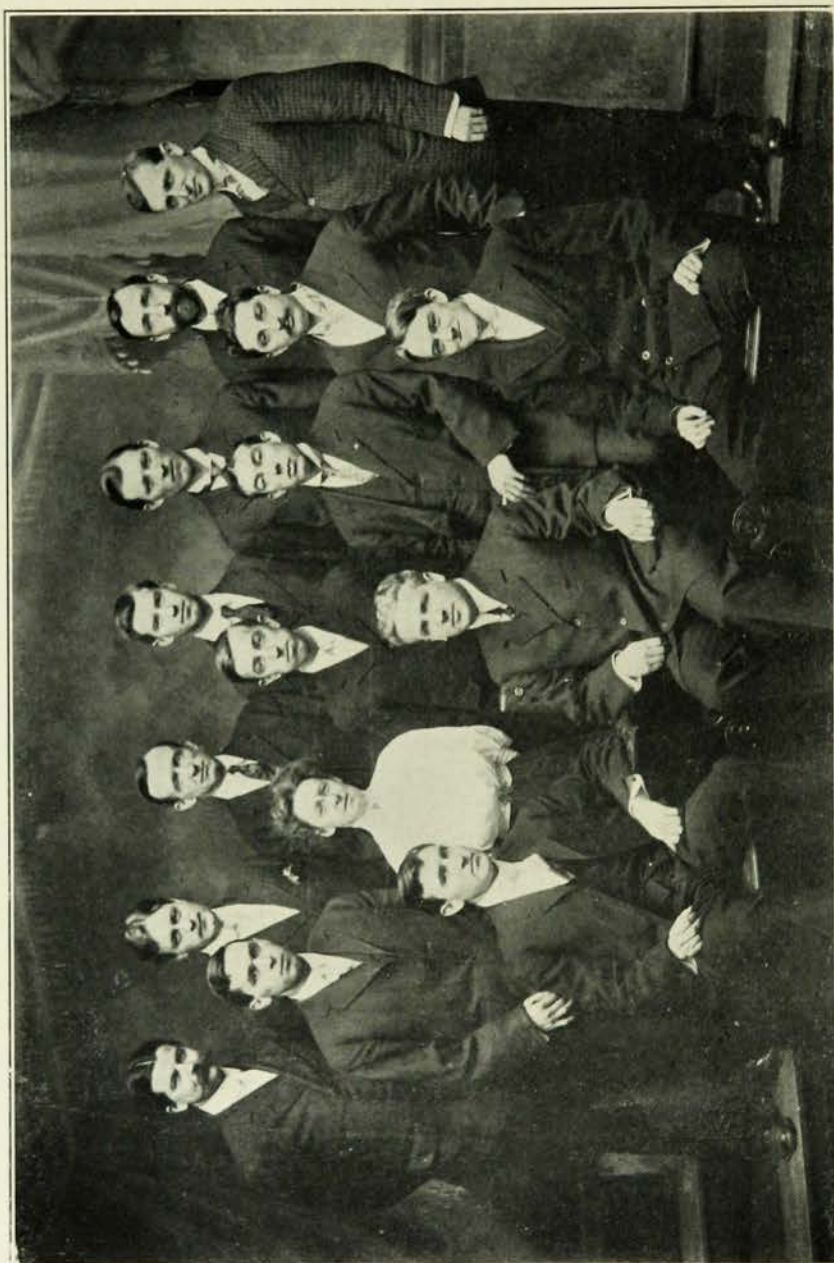

Thus far the year has passed by very rapidly, and has been marked with many pleasant associations and occasions. The work has been difficult, but interesting, and even though there were times when the clouds of despair hung like a gloom around us, as, for instance, just before examinations, yet the desire to progress and the general enthusiasm displayed were sufficient to brighten up the sky and render the pathway clear.

The class suffered the loss of four of last year's members, but two new members have joined us this year. We are yet small in numbers, but hope to increase. We have but a short while longer to live as Sophomores, let us hope that we all live through the difficulties of this year and meet together in that still further advanced stage, the Juniors, next year.

History

THE second year with its days of sun and its moments of shadow has swept away. With us, it has been characterized by toil and determination. Perchance, there have been discouragements, but none has lost heart for we are in absolute sympathy with the poet's idea:

" 'Tis easy enough to be pleasant
When the world flows on like a song,
But the man worth while
Is the man with a smile,
When everything goes dead wrong."

We have come to know one another well and this larger knowledge has conduced to the very warmest feelings of respect and friendship which are destined to live and grow.

Our annual smoker was held in the Phi Chi fraternity house on the evening of February 27. It was a joyful occasion, memories of which will linger beyond the eventide. The hours ran off altogether too fast as each one did his whole part toward the success of the function. Strains of delightful music, spirited conversation, refreshments fit for the gods, "tripping the light fantastic," and conspicuous in the midst of it all Cupid's darts flying right and left in search of "suitable soil." Was there anything missing to render the evening a solid round of pleasures unknown to common mortals? Gay and festive scenes! May such another event be our lot in the early future.

Poem

To grind, or not to stay, that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slams and bangs of some critical prof.,
Or seek in distant climes more restful scenes
And there, mayhap, forget them. To leave G. W.
For aye, and by our going say we end
The troubles and those crams and toils
That medics are heir to; 'tis a consummation
Profoundly to be wished.

FRESHMAN MEDICAL CLASS.

Class Events

THE writer feels his complete incompetency when he tries to relate the glorious events which have marked the career of the Medical Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twelve. Although we are still Freshmen our existence has become renowned, not only in the University, but throughout the city, and we feel that we have set an example for the coming generations that will be hard to surpass.

Our medical career began on the last day of September, Nineteen Hundred and Eight, when on all sides could be seen students enthusiastically paying college fees and loitering around the main hall, patiently waiting the inevitable. Soon Dean Phillips put in his appearance and ushered us up to that cold, dreary room on the fourth floor, where later were to be revealed to us the mysteries of anatomy. Here it was that we looked into each others' faces for the first time as we stood on the edge of the great unknown. We had gathered together from the four points of the compass, and at first we were more or less suspicious of each other, but gradually these suspicions faded away and on October 6th we stood together as a class and elected temporary officers.

November 16th marked the night of our class smoker at the Riggs House, where every one turned out and enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. We were honored by the presence of most of the faculty, who responded to the toasts of the evening.

Just before the Christmas holidays we held our class election and selected our officers for the year. To say that we chose wisely is putting it but mildly, for every officer has worked for the good of the class to the utmost of his ability. Our president has won the love and respect of us all and in passing we cannot but express our appreciation of his efforts to raise the class to the high standard that it has attained.

The long looked for Christmas holidays came and we all went in our various directions to enjoy those few days as never before.

February, with its much dreaded examinations, came and went leaving us with one mile post at our backs.

Easter, short, but indeed sweet, makes another break in the steady grind of our life at the University.

At the time that this goes to print, we are boning hard, already preparing for the June examinations that will proclaim us Sophomores.

During the year the class has adopted the honor system, which has put every man on his own standing and honor. In every undertaking we have gotten together and stood as one, confirming the old proverb "in unity there is strength"—thus, our success.

In closing, the class wishes to express its sincere gratitude to all our instructors, for they have done their utmost to help us where they could. The friendly relation that has existed between professor and student has been very marked and has had its beneficial results.

A Tragic Triolet

He was so very fond of her,
That dainty, sweet co-ed.,
That he must studying defer
(He was so very fond of her
That lessons could not him deter).
He got eight flunks, 'tis said ;
He was so very fond of her,

WILLIAM H. BARNHARD.

"Josh."

Ohio.

Bill was born in Ohio, the State of Presidents, which evidently accounts for that judicial air. As an orator he has endeared himself to his classmates, but his high-flowing lingo has been at times "too copious for our diminutive comprehensions." Never mind, Bill, we appreciate your abilities, both as a dentist-to-be and as an orator.

EWING M. W. BEAR.

"Pop."

District of Columbia.

"Ewing Marvin Wood and the rest of the alphabet." Bear, more frequently known as Pop, was born in Baltimore ? years ago. Conceded by all to be an operator of the first order, and as a prosthetician somewhat "classy." Since his debut (?) into the Infirmary he has ever been the adoration of the ladies for his captivating smiles and polished manners.

CLAUDE Q. CANNON.

Utah.

This handsome young man was born in Utah. We have all wondered how the ladies allowed such a good-looking chap to remain single until he reached his twenty-fourth birthday. Early in September, however, Claude promised to love, honor and obey and buy shoes for two. Some day Honolulu will be benefited by his addition to the ranks of its efficient dentists.

ALBERT S. DAVIDSON.

District of Columbia.

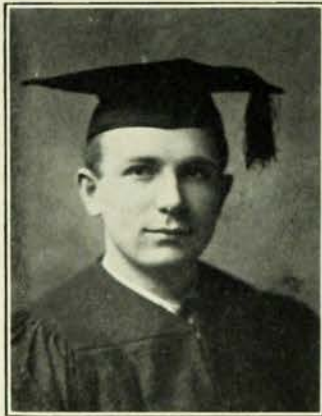

Class President, 1908-'09.

Davie has shown that he is held in esteem by his classmates by being elected President of the Senior Dental Class. He will, after graduation, grace the District with his presence.

MAX S. GOLDBERG.

Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE, 1909.

Goldberg was born in New York City twenty-one years ago. Attended the public schools of the District of Columbia, and graduated from the Central High School. If successful, he will probably practice in this city.

CHARLES R. IRBY.

Virginia.
Class Vice-President, 1908-'09.

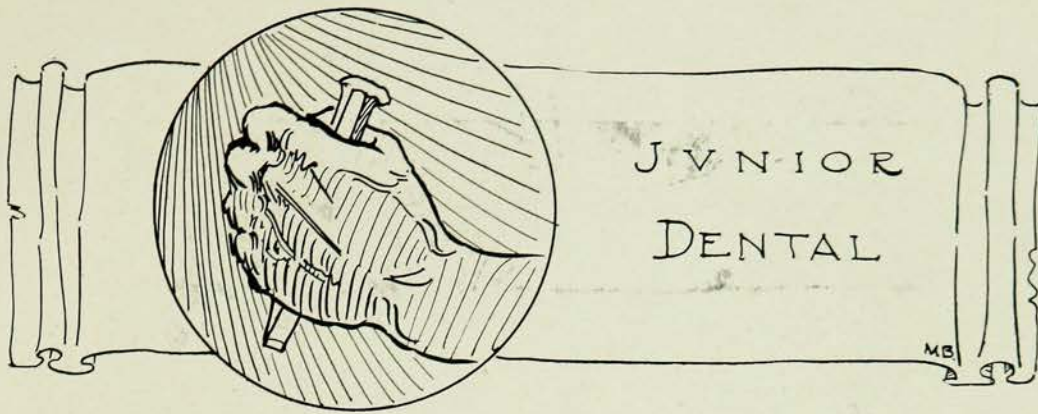

That "base" voice which chimes in the Dental Quartet shows that Rufus is present with bells on. This young man is "on the job," as was demonstrated by his exposition on "Exterpations of the Pulp by Means of Pressure Anæsthesia," which took the profs. by storm. In the words of the class, he "knocked the spots out of them."

History of Junior Dental

IMPORTANT changes have been made in the Dental Department of the University and the Junior Class as well. Our advent into University life last year was a most auspicious one, considering our virtual isolation from the activities at the main building. It will be remembered that when the call for funds for athletics came this class was the first to respond, each of the nineteen members giving $1.00. It will also be remembered that Mr. Pearce, President of the class, was the conductor of the minstrel show, which placed several hundred dollars in the empty coffers of the Athletic Association. All during the year the men of the present Junior Class contributed cheerfully to the support of athletics, although at the same time they were painfully in need of a vulcanizer that was not a life destroyer or a building wrecker. So with the words of the great Napoleon in mind, "what has he done?" we can truthfully say that our modest efforts have not been in vain.

The class this year has been considerably weakened in numbers by the departure of over half of the members for new scenes of activity, or inactivity as the case may be. "To make myself plain," as Dr. Lewis says, the majority of these, dissatisfied with the schedule and attracted by lower tuition, committed the unpardonable error of going to Georgetown. We wish them joy, if such a thing is possible over there.

To our Dean, Dr. Henry C. Thompson, whom every dental student loves and respects, all credit is due for the marked improvement in the equipment and schedule of this department. No one could have labored more unceasingly to bring about this result than he, and we are sincerely grateful for his unselfish devotion to the cause. With "Tommy" at our head, a well-equipped laboratory and most of the boys working steadily in the infirmary under our able and popular instructor, Dr. Charles Bassett, things look very rosy indeed for the Dental Class of 1910.

Class History

IN the Anatomical Laboratory on the evening of October 14, 1908, after the "Prof." of Anatomy had fled, and all doors and windows had been securely locked and barricaded, the "Freshman Dental 1911" gathered together for organization. The Anatomical Laboratory was selected for this great undertaking because of the gruesome surroundings, which it was thought would tend to keep the members of the class alive to the seriousness of the work on hand. A member of the Junior Class has since said that our principal reason was the excellent means of escape (fire escape and roof) in case of a friendly visitation by them. But such was not the case.

In due time roll was called and every member of the class answered with such a lusty "here" that the "half" skeleton hanging in the corner realized at last that he was a "dead one," and that, unlike in former years, there was no room for him in this class. Then the fun began.

"Smiling Sam," or "Fatty," who was elected president, is just the boy for such a job, large and round and full of class spirit. He deals in nothing but the truth and annexed the latter "accomplishment" while in the employ of the Weather Bureau. "Happy" Wood, or H. E., as he signs it, was given the "look wise" proposition (vice-president) and plays his part strong. F. J. Stockman, or "Stock," an honest and hard-working individual, was made secretary-treasurer, and the organization wound up with the election of "a" Editor. The first official act of our new president was to appoint "Blondy" Beers chief "yeller" to lead the class in the rooting at the athletic games of the University.

On Thanksgiving Day the class attended the football game in a body, yelled itself hoarse, and that night, being in a happy frame of mind, held a "wandering" smoker. The next night, Friday, November 27, we were banqueted in the offices of The Old Dominion Glass Co., of Alexandria, Va., by Mr. Lorenzo Wolford. Toasts, songs, yells and stories, not to mention the excellent spread, were indulged in. Before departing, "Uncle Ramsey," who is such to Ervin Schwarzman, was voted a prince of good fellows, and was made an honorary member of the class.

Fourteen members answered roll call at the beginning of the season. We now muster an even dozen, but what we lack in numbers we more than make up in determination and enthusiasm. Just look at our picture.

History of the Class of 1910

WITH the return of most of our colleagues, we of Law '10 found ourselves at the beginning of the school year in a brilliant array of splendor, never before witnessed in the history of the Junior Class. The chills of September brought back the veterans of a past struggle, and the call of the season found us well prepared to compete for a place in the hall of fame.

Unfortunately, our barbarian friends, the stubborn Freshmen, did not receive the particular attention they need, and the commencement of the season 1908-'09 failed to see the restoration of that venerable and ancient institution, the "annual rush."

In reviewing the attainments of our class it would be unnecessary to refer to its individual members, each of whom, in the fulfilment of his duties as a loyal Junior, reached the summit of his ambition, thus bestowing pride and honor upon his class. That the class of Law '10 is the wisest the school has ever had is a well-known fact as attested by the numerous 100's obtained in Common Law Pleading. Of course our brilliancy is not due to the fact that we are Juniors, but to that very conglomeration of brains that in the fall of 1907 consented to study law for the sake of "recreation."

Only occasionally when the class submitted itself would Professor Peter have dared used that instrument of torture called quizz, in order, as he said, "to probe for knowledge," and every embryo lawyer as he sat in class noticed with pity the horrible probe on some of the unfortunate "thirds" who failed to pass their Evidence last year, and whom fate had brought down to mingle in the circle of the wise.

The enormous success of the class smoker, which was given in the spacious rooms of the Union, goes well to demonstrate the good will and fellowship existing among the members of the second year law. A first-class buffet luncheon was served, which proves that the committee didn't graft. After speeches and the applause which followed, some local talent was produced and Messrs. Calvert and Swift proceeded to entertain the guests with a touching melody on the piccalo and the mouth organ entitled "Why did you blow the light out?" After the performance Ford passed the hat.

And now did you hear of the enormous success of the George Washington football team this season, and of its record-breaking scores? Well, if you ask why, anybody will tell you it was all due to the immeasurable efforts of its cracking half-back, Frederick A. Crafts, president of our class, whose good playing and magnificent running brought him all the honors for the team. But as Mr. Dooley says: "Opporchunity knocks at ivery man's dure wanst. On some dures it knocks 'til it breaks down the dure an' thin it goes in an' wakes him up if he is asleep an' aftherwards it wurks for him as a night watchman. On oth'r men's dures it knocks and runs away, an' on the dures iv some men it knocks an' when they come out it hits thim ov'r the head with an ax. But ivery man has wan opporchunity."

And so did Law 1910.

Class History

BY their fruits ye shall know them; but don't pick the apples until they are ripe. Not having produced much of that worldly substance called fame, we are loath to burden the Recording Angel with our only stock-in-trade—prophesies and wise sayings. The Future is our field; of the Past we know not. At least if there are such among us who have a past, they have not deigned to speak thereof, and a history without a past would do little to embellish a first-class library.

Exit historian! Enter contemporary! Collectively we are a harmonious, independent, political and social unit. Having successfully eliminated the more lackadaisical element in the class and relegated it to twilight hours for instruction, we can now enjoy the full benefits of higher education in the select seclusion of morning study. Believing thoroughly in the old adage of the early worm, and the value of thorough preparation for life's work, we have, without exception, absorbed, abstracted and digested 1003 torts; and believing to have passed the threshold of legal education, will now proceed to make history for future CHERRY TREES to chronicle in large letters beneath their verdant shade. For of makers of history there are many.

Having gathered here from all the choicest corners of the globe, to wit.: Idaho, Utah, China, Italy, Greece and Missouri, we feel confident that under the soothing radiance of our councils all the discordant notes of Jurisprudence will melt into peaceful harmony. What with Conflicts of Law and disputes among eminent authorities, when Brother Gudmunsen has established the precedent that any man may marry his widow's sister, or any sister, and as many, too, as he pleases, and when Schoenfeld successfully objects to the court's ruling because his client was punished for "unsuccessfully committing suicide," Judge Tilton, too, will surely sit on a high seat of justice, for although he had not read his case, he thought "the man must have been convicted." Farmer, the jovial, believing in the inviolability of personal liberty, has already straightened out some troublesome kinks in the local law of good-fellowship; but the day of ambition's fulfilment will soon arrive, for the Morning Section is to have a banquet all their own, in kind and color.

Class History

THE college year 1908-'09 marked a change in class government in the first year law department. A committee was named to draft a constitution and prepare a set of by-laws, and this committee, by good hard work, accomplished the feat and deserve the thanks of the class for their labor. Some discussion arose about this time between the members of the day class and those of the afternoon section as to a candidate for the presidency. Each section naturally wanted a candidate selected from its own membership, so in order to settle the matter diplomatically, and in the way we expect to decide matters of this nature when we shall have finished our work in law, it was agreed that each section should elect a president and such other officers as might be necessary. Accordingly, the Bachelor of Law section elected the following officers: President, George T. Bean; Vice-President, Edward C. Kemper; Secretary, John D. Myers; Treasurer, Harry E. Meyer. Later, at a second election, Edward C. Kemper was chosen to represent the class on The Hatchet and A. Chester Flather was elected Class Editor of THE CHERRY TREE.

Our class smoker was scheduled for the first part of December, but owing to Professor Thurston's "tests," of which we were informed before we entered the law school, it was decided to await the termination of said "tests," and the committee, consisting of A. C. Flather (chairman), Edward C. Kemper, John D. Myers and George T. Bean, ex-officio, set Friday, January 8, as the date. Through the kindness of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, we were allowed to use their rooms. The event was a great success, and those who were present had the pleasure of hearing Dean Vance and Professors Thurston and Monnet. We regret exceedingly that Justice Harlan was unable to be with us on this occasion.

Our first semester passed without any further event of note, and we have now entered upon the last part of the year's work, upon which so much depends. The social features are things of the dim past and we are looking ahead with "much" interest to the call for the final examinations.

Class Secretary, 1906-'07; President, 1908-'09; Rooters' Club, 1907-'08.

Born October 21, 1889, at Bailey's Cross Roads, Virginia, and later moved to Washington, where he attended the Technical High School. He is a tall, rather good-looking man, and is termed a "lion among ladies." After graduation he will organize a temperance club and be the chief driver of the water wagon.

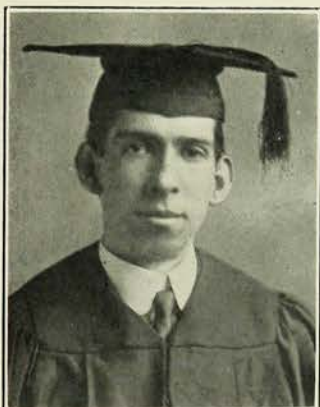

T. QUINN JONES.

Missouri.

Toastmaster, Class Banquet, 1908.

Born February 20, 1884 in Platte City, Missouri, graduated from Gaylord Institute in 1901, and from Queen City Commercial College in 1902. "T. Q.," as he is called, has always been an earnest and hard worker for the benefit of fellow-students. He will become a benedict. All of his classmates wish him a long and happy wedded life.

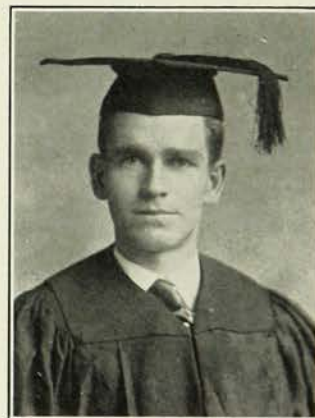

WILLIAM SIDNEY JONES.

Virginia.

Class Secretary, 1908-'09; Assistant Class Editor, University Hatchet, 1908-'09; Assistant Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE, 1908-'09.

Willie is his mother's pretty, blushing boy. He was born in Chatham, Virginia, on March 29, 1887. He attended the Washington High School and the Cameron Institute, of Alexandria, Va. In his second year he passed the District Board examination, the first in his class to become a registered pharmacist. He is a lady heart-breaker.

EDWARD VERMILYA PAYNE.

Virginia.

Class Treasurer, 1906-'07; Class Vice-President, 1907-'08, 1908-'09; Winner of the Dr. Fristoe Scholarship, 1906-'07, and of the W. S. Thompson Scholarship, 1907-'08.

Payne was born on a farm near Falls Church, Virginia, on March 17, 1889. While his little chirp was yet feeble his family took little Eddie to Washington, where he attended the Technical High School. Edward imparts knowledge to his classmates, not sometimes, but all the time. In 1923 he will be lynched for obtaining a monopoly of it.

CHAUNCEY CLIFFORD REESE.

Class Treasurer, 1908-'09; Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE and University Hatchet, 1908-'09; Varsity Football Scrubs, 1908; Class Track Team, 1907-'08.

Chauncey was born at Crisfield, Maryland, July 24, 1888. His accomplishments will long be remembered. He organized the first track team in this department, was the first out for the Varsity football team, and pushed through the Class '09 Memorial. He is a bachelor and will always be one. After graduation he will study chemistry.

NELLIE IRENE RICHARDSON.

District of Columbia.

Class President, 1906-'07; Class Editor, University Hatchet, 1907-'08; Class Editor, THE CHERRY TREE, 1907-'08.

Nellie was born on the 13th of June, 1887. In 1906 she graduated from the Central High School and came to the National College of Pharmacy. She has always been high up on the honor roll. She headed the temperance movement of the class, and the Boozers' Organization went to smash. She will probably become the president of the W. O. N. A. R. D. and W. C. T. U.

FRANK ASHLEY ROBESY.

Virginia.

Class Treasurer, 1907-'08.

Robey boy, known as "beauty boy" and several other endearing names, was born at Herndon, Virginia, September 4, 1887, and attended the Herndon High School. Robey has distinguished himself in college. Once he almost answered a question in a quiz in microscopy. He always knows, but cannot tell. It is likely that by his good looks he will be able to marry a blind girl some day.

JUNIOR PHARMACY CLASS.

Class History

HERE we are, twenty strong, after one more year of probing into atoms, pure foods, drugs and formulas. And still we strive, spurred on by hope that we may be the banner class of the National College of Pharmacy and that some day we may shine as the wise and enlightened tutors of those following in our pathway. We have come into prominence through our earnestness, congenial ways toward one another and our willingness to do all in our power for right and justice.

Assembled once more in September, 1908, intending to enter boldly upon our Junior year, we soon settled down to business. Although by no means unruly, we deemed it necessary to elect a head, and bestowed the title of president on our venerable "Uncle Dudley," Mr. Tschiffely. We furthermore feel confident that good judgment was displayed in making Judd our vice-president, in placing the records of our class in the hands of Kenner, and the savings of our treasury in the trusty possession of Mr. Feller.

We do not claim to be a class of athletes, but we do boast of a few who have manifested a great interest in athletics and we know that those few will work with vim to bring glory to the University. Among them is our loyal classmate, Mr. Kenner, who won his "G. W.," which entitles us to a place of honor in the University sports.

We are the only class in the N. C. P. at present to be graced by two co-eds. Although the proportion is quite small, we feel that we have well illustrated in this respect, "quality and not quantity." We also claim the honors of having in our midst, the first elected president of the All-Pharmacy frat, newly organized. With Lampman, the Yankee Boy from the Green Mountain State, at its head, we intend to do our utmost to make this frat a credit to our Alma Mater.

In studies we do not claim to be very brilliant scholars, but we are most certainly susceptible to good training. After being proficiently tutored in the mysteries of drugs and aided by the revelations of the microscope, we are now able to interest our listeners with stories of the wonderful structures of nature. Each year we open wider the eyes of our esteemed professors and show them that qualities that may appear to lie dormant may be awakened by good training.

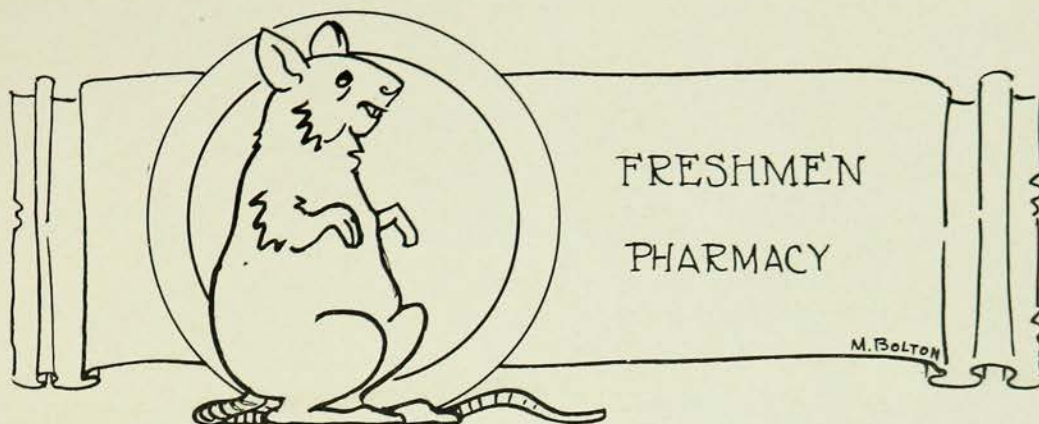

One year from now this noble twenty intends to march with a solid front to receive the finishing touch of wisdom and knowledge, to have bestowed on us that degree for which we have labored so earnestly by gas and sunlight for three long years and to bring honor and glory to that noble institution, the N. C. P. of the G. W. U.

Class History

THE Freshman Pharmacy Class organized on October 5, and elected the following officers: President, C. W. Henderson; Vice-President, L. W. Beeson; Secretary and Treasurer, C. F. Snyder, and Class Editor, F. Collier. At the meeting on November 4, a social committee was appointed, consisting of L. Mangum, chairman, W. W. Taltavull, E. G. Kenner and F. B. Marsden, and this committee was wise enough to propose that a class dance be held. It is needless to remark that this proposition met with universal favor, and the class voted that the plans of the committee be carried out.

The dance was held on December 30, as planned, was largely attended, and proved a decided success. To see the knights of the mortar and pestle gliding through the "measures of the mazy" was well worth the price of admission. All present voted that it was an evening well spent.

Then the trouble began. Not a dance this time, but an examination in general chemistry and physics was given by Professor Hillebrand's assistant, Mr. H. M. Bradbury and Professor Waggaman, followed with one in botany and materia medica. Of all our studies this last is the most interesting, and the class is making rapid progress in it. We nearly all celebrated Christmas by passing the examinations, and are now looking forward to the time when we shall be Juniors.

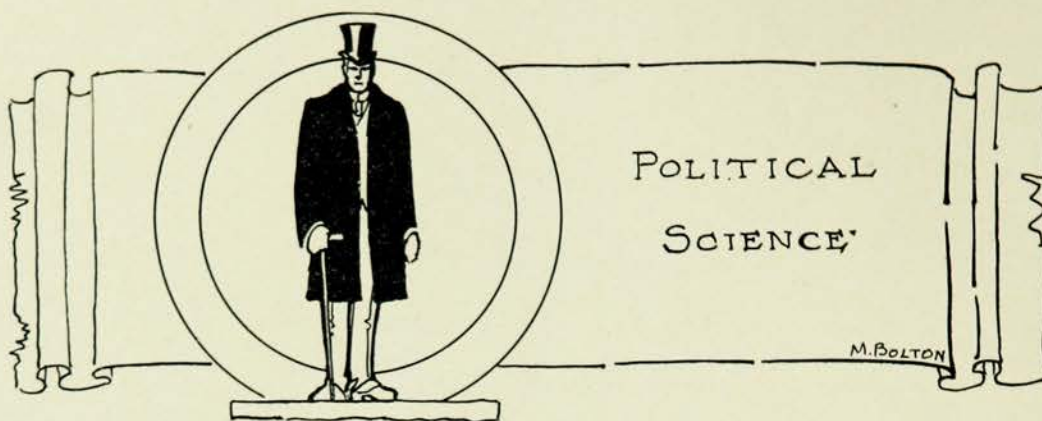

At the class meeting on January 13, the president appointed H. K. Butler as class editor to succeed F. Collier, who resigned. Since that meeting we have organized a track team, and elected as its captain Frank Marsden, formerly of the Technical High School Team.

As a class we wish to thank the professors and their assistants for what they have done for us in preparing us for a higher standing. Here's hoping they will give us a good send off for next year.

THE College of the Political Sciences began its first session of 1907 under the aggressive administration of Dr. C. W. A. Veditz. It represents the natural development of the Department of Politics and Diplomacy, founded in 1898. Since 1907 its growth has been remarkable. It now occupies a building of its own at 827 Fifteenth Street, and has an enrollment of eighty-seven.

The College of the Political Sciences has a two-fold purpose. First, it offers complete undergraduate courses, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, which include "general culture" studies, but give special emphasis to subjects pertaining to Government, History, Economics, Sociology and the Modern Languages. Secondly, on the basis of this preparatory course, it offers more extended graduate work along these lines suggested by the designation of the original department of Politics and Diplomacy.

It is not necessary to reiterate the peculiar and distinguishing advantages offered in Washington to students in this department. This city is the seat of the nation's political activity, and as such it affords unlimited opportunities for investigating the complex operations of the three departments of our government, and endless sources of information upon all matters pertaining to its history, much of which is not available elsewhere.

The College, through its official organization, the Social Science Club, has secured the services of a number of prominent speakers and lecturers, among whom we note the following: William J. Bryan, John W. Foster, W. R. Curtis, Dr. Meade, William R. Manning and Henry P. Willis.

From these facts it may be seen that the College is in the line of progress. The experimental stage has past; now the questions for discussion among the leaders have to do with the perfecting of a system already in successful operation. With its capable administration and efficient faculty there is good reason for the realization of the hopes we have expressed. Let us, as students, be a unit with the faculty in their efforts to raise the College of the Political Sciences of the George Washington University to that position of prominence and leadership among the universities of the country that it will prove itself to deserve.

FRESHMAN VETERINARY CLASS.

Class History

THE large and progressive universities that have not already had established for years a department of veterinary medicine are today adding this branch to their organization. In harmony with, and the outcome of the progressive policy of the University, the College of Veterinary Medicine was organized last year. We are, therefore, entering upon our initial year as the baby department of the University.

The field of the veterinarian is no longer restricted to the treatment of the common domesticated animals, but has recently broadened. It now embraces the supervision over meat and milk supplies, with a view of preventing the transmission of certain diseases of the animal to the human being, the study of sanitary measures to guard against disease-producing germs developed in the milk supply, the investigation and suppression of disease among our domestic animals and various other like work, particularly of an original character. The field is comparatively young, and although much good has been accomplished, especially in the war on tuberculosis, much remains to be done. The general public has come to recognize that the modern veterinarian is more than a "horse doctor." It was a veterinarian, at the recent Tuberculosis Congress, who was called upon to reply to Dr. Koch, the eminent German scientist, the father of bacteriology and discoverer of the tubercle bacilli, in repudiating his doctrine that tuberculosis was not transmissible from the animal to the human being.

As a class we have a good, wholesome aggregation of thirty-seven men, representing fourteen different States. There are with us the usual unique characters, but lack of space forbids individual mention. Things have been a little too serious up to this time to permit of much fun, consequently we have nothing interesting to relate in this respect.

THE Young Men's Christian Association has enjoyed a fair degree of prosperity since its organization nearly four years ago. Though greatly handicapped by the segregation of the student body and the lack of a room dedicated to its work, it has made steady progress along the chosen lines of endeavor.

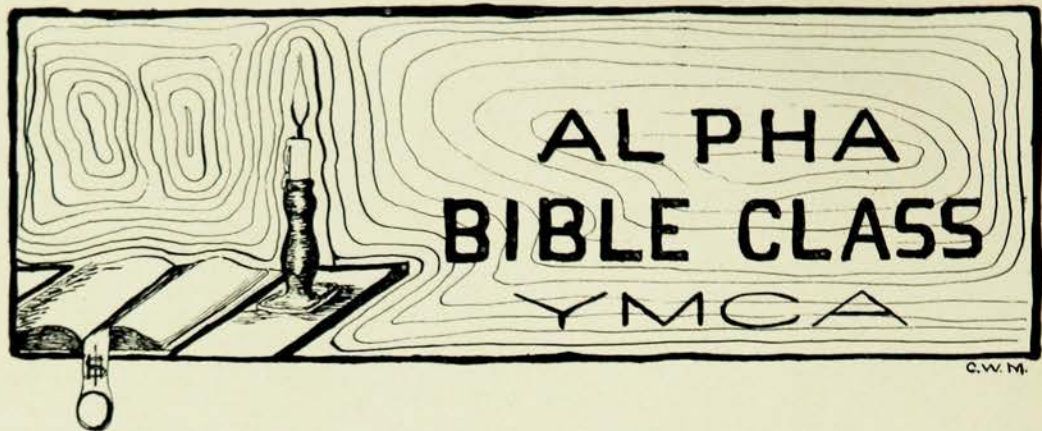

Among the important features of the Association campaign are:

1. The Annual Banquet.
2. Organization and maintenance of Bible Study Groups.
3. Chapel service in West Hall at noon on Fridays.
4. A general effort to make new students feel at home.

Earnest R. Eaton with this year completes his third term as president of the Association. The measure of success attained during his administration is due largely to his enthusiastic and faithful service, coupled with the co-operation of the officers and members who have sought to maintain this work.

The Association stands for the moral and religious life of the University. It has in it the elements which appeal to the best and strongest men, and has taken its place among the permanent institutions of University life.

EDGAR CORDELL POWERS.

THE class emphasized in its work not so much Christianity from a doctrinal point of view, as from that of every-day right living and morality. For the first half of the study period Bosworth's "Life of Christ According to Saint Mark" was read. The aim was to study Christ as a man among men, as one would study the lives of Washington, Lincoln or Franklin. The second half of the period was given over to an informal discussion of such pertinent and practical topics as card-playing, drinking, profanity, impure stories and dancing. On one Friday of each month, instead of the usual program, the class was favored by interesting talks from Professors Wilbur and Smith, Mr. Freyas and Secretaries Cooper and Davis, of the Central Y. M. C. A.

The Alpha Class was organized as a conversational one, in which everybody had abundant opportunity to take part by expressing opinions, asking questions, and giving information. There was no teacher, but a most capable leader, David Covell, whose enthusiasm and earnestness made the class a real benefit to every member.

The time of meeting, Friday from 1 to 1.30, was so arranged as not to conflict with any other University activity. The roster of the class was as follows: Covell, leader, Berry, Chubb, H. C. Clark, Day, Engell, Fleming, Heitmuller, Marsh, Ramsay, Rives, Schreiber, Stout, Tucker and Wise.

It is the intention of the Y. M. C. A. to carry on this work next session, and so a cordial invitation is here extended to every man in the George Washington University to join the ALPHA BIBLE CLASS.

THE Y. W. C. A. has passed through a prosperous year; its membership has increased with encouraging rapidity and the enthusiasm in the movement shows no sign of abating. To the invaluable assistance and encouragement of Miss Ellis the society owes much of its progress. Weekly chapel service is held at the Women's Building under the personal supervision of Miss Ellis.

The annual banquet was held in November at the Y. W. C. A. rooms. Over fifty girls from the University and many women prominent in Y. W. C. A. work were present. Miss Cochran, president of the local chapter, presided and called upon Mrs. Thomas L. Gladding, of New York; Miss Brown, District Secretary; Miss Ellis and Mrs. Wilbur for remarks. The decorations were exceedingly attractive and the affair as a whole had an unquestionably encouraging effect on the spirit of the movement.

THE Association of Class Presidents is now a well-established, influential and recognized power. The University authorities have called upon it in various instances, such as the Mid-Winter Convocation, and the appeal for the opinion of the students as to their preference in the permanent location of the University. In each of these instances, as well as to the other appeals made, the organization, as a whole and individually, has responded loyally.

The Association has also various student matters which demand its attention. Notable among these is the Students' Ball, given by the Board of Lady Managers of the George Washington University Hospital. In this the entire work of getting out the students is placed in the hands of this organization.

Perhaps the most important of the student affairs is the annual Minstrel Show. The Association has determined to present this year a production of at least equal, if not greater, excellence than last. The management has been placed in the capable hands of Mr. Philip L. Scantling, with Messrs. Coburn and Von Ezdorf as assistants. The production this year is planned on an elaborate scale. The music, lyrics, etc., are entirely the work of students, and reflect great credit upon the individuals and the University. The students are enthusiastic. Everything points to a greater degree of success than ever.

Now, as to the Association itself. In view of the successful work of past years, the organization again conferred credit upon itself in honoring Mr. Harry W. Houghton with the office of president, which he has filled with a rare degree of tact, discretion and good judgment.

The expansion of the University is reflected and sometimes foretold by the growth of this body. Three classes in the School of Architecture, three classes in the School of Veterinary, one class in the School of Political Science, and the new Freshman Law forenoon class were added. The total number of classes now entitled to representation is twenty-seven.

CLASSICAL CLUB.

The Classical Club

THE Classical Club, organized by Professor Carroll in 1900, is composed of instructors and advanced students in Greek and Latin and Classical Archæology. It meets monthly for the more detailed discussion of special topics in ancient life, literature and art than is ordinarily possible in the class room. At each meeting a paper is read, reviews of recent classical publications are presented and reports are made from various sites of archæological excavation. Teachers and patrons of the classics in Washington are admitted as associate members, and at open meetings the club avails itself, when possible, of the services of eminent scholars from other universities who may be temporarily in the city.

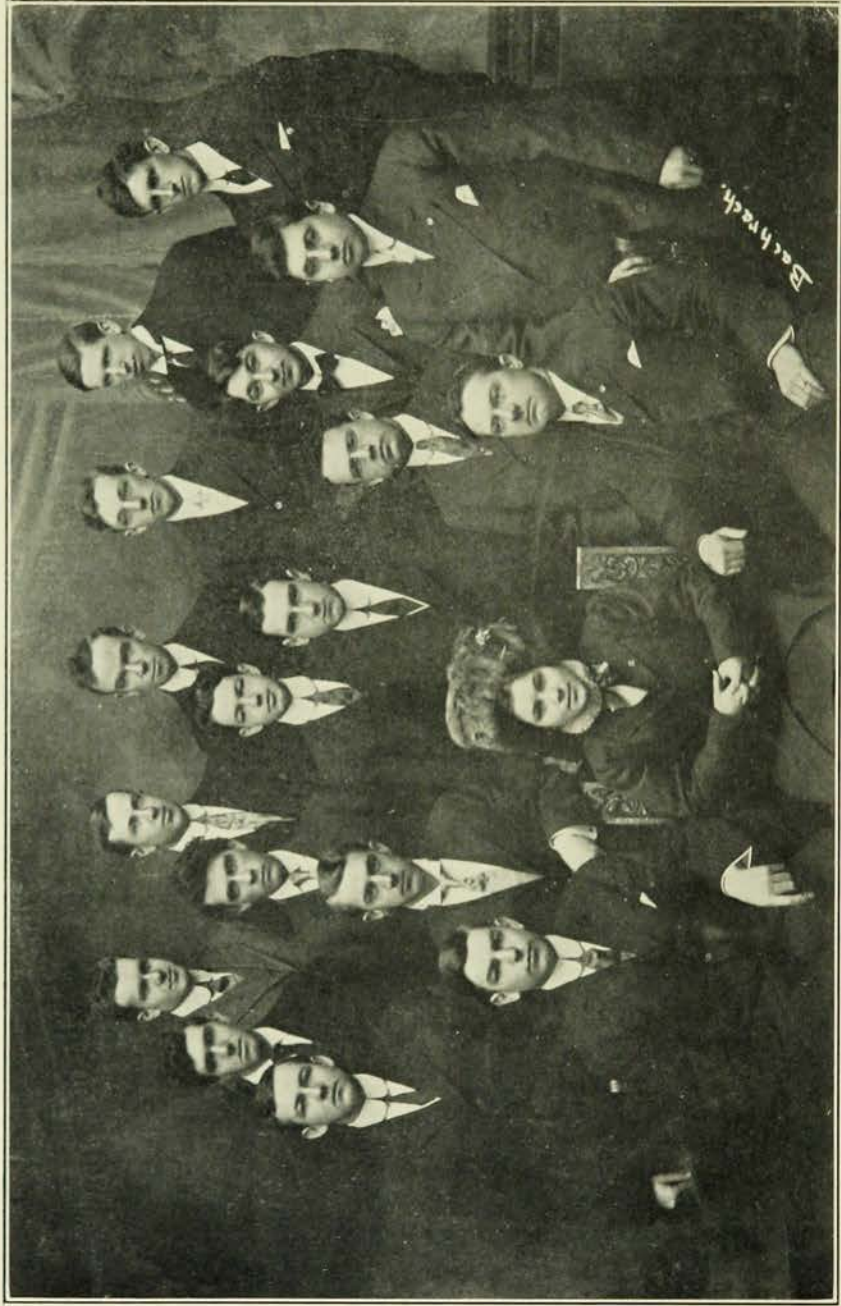

In the list of honorary members who have addressed the club are the late Louis Dyer, of Oxford University; Francis W. Kelsey, of the University of Michigan; George Horton, United States Consul to Athens; Kirby Flower Smith, of Johns Hopkins University; the late Thomas Day Seymour, of Yale University; Wilfred P. Mustard and H. L. Wilson, of Johns Hopkins University, and David G. Hogarth, of the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford.

The active members of the Classical Club for 1908-'09 are as follows:

ARCHITECTURAL CLUB.

THE fifth year of the existence of the George Washington University Architectural Club has been one of unusual success and prosperity. From the very first meeting, opening the term '08-'09, activities commenced and continued through the entire year with a great spirit of good-fellowship and with an ever-increasing interest and enthusiasm.

The rendezvous, a low-ceilinged room situated in the basement of the building occupied by the Division of Architecture, was an acquisition of last year, and was then quite artistically fitted up. Around the room runs a wainscot about six feet high, of green burlap, divided into panels by narrow strips of wood, and topped by a wide plate rail. The woodwork is stained a dark red, and the walls above the plate rail and the ceiling are painted a buff color. The room has also, standing on a brick hearth, an enormous old-fashioned range, which heats the room, and upon which many delicious repasts and feasts have been prepared. Just adjoining is quite a spacious pantry, where Mr. Garland, the chairman of the house committee, keeps the supplies under lock and key. The walls of the clubroom are decorated with several silhouettes of the members, drawn from life, and many sketches and pictures, as well as a number of very interesting plaster casts donated to the club by Mr. Bairstow. This is the scene of many delightful gatherings.

The first meeting of the year was held in the evening of the last Monday in October, the twenty-sixth day of the month, and the officers of the club were then elected. Mr. Knowles, who was Treasurer the preceding year, was elected President; Mr. Geare was re-elected Vice-President; Mr. McAuley was elected Secretary, and Mr. Doyle was elected to the position of Treasurer.

Mr. Knowles then appointed several committees to take charge of divers affairs of the club. The Lecture Committee, with Mr. Geare as chairman, immediately became busy and planned quite an extensive program, so that almost once every two weeks the members of the club and their guests gather and are entertained by some delightful talk of an architectural nature, and by a delicious feast prepared by the House and Entertainment Committees and served after each lecture.

The advancement and betterment of the club is a matter of pride with the officers and the members, and it is felt that the administration of "Billy" Knowles has been one of success and prosperity. M. B.

Rifle Team, 1908

IN April of 1906 a Rifle Club was organized at George Washington, and from its members a team was drawn which won the inter-collegiate shoot and thereby brought our University the trophy offered by the National Rifle Association of America. In 1907 no competition took place, and without this stimulus the old club died a natural death. Consequently, when in the spring of 1908 the call suddenly came for men to shoot at the inter-collegiate match held by the N. R. A. at Boston in June, no one knew where the team was to come from, but it came, and it won.

The result is summarized by one of the periodicals of the country devoted to shooting as follows:

"The match started promptly at 10.30 with a poor light, and the wind blowing directly across the range. George Washington assumed the lead at once and maintained it throughout the match, which was finished at 3.30. At the 200-yard range the District boys rolled up a total of 231. Pennsylvania second with 215, Harvard and M. I. T. tied at 203. At the 300-yard range George Washington University had 242, Pennsylvania and Harvard tied at 227.

"When the teams went to the long range George Washington had a lead of 31 points, Pennsylvania was second, 12 points ahead of Harvard, who led Technology by 26 points. At the 500-yard range George Washington was hard pushed by Pennsylvania, but nosed out by 7 points, Harvard finishing in third place for the range, 35 points behind University of Pennsylvania, and Technology was last, 37 points behind Harvard. The individual honor of the match was carried off by W. B. Yeager, of Pennsylvania, who outranked J. R. Fehr, of George Washington University. Both men got a total of 126, but the former's 48 at 500 yards landed him high individual."

Thus it went down in history, and one may find the account of the event in the archives of the Congressional Library, but it will bring much more satisfaction to look at the trophy, which we have already won twice and need to win but once more to keep and see engraved on the plate for 1908 the seal of the George Washington University and the following scores:

	200	300	500	Total
O. G. Thigpen.....	39	40	38	117
C. H. Bowker.....	31	41	46	119
C. H. Fehr.....	39	41	46	126
R. W. Howell.....	39	39	42	120
Capt. J. W. Pattison.....	44	41	38	123
F. C. Dolbey.....	39	40	41	120
Totals.....	231	242	252	725

Recognizing the need of a team and the profit and pleasure which those interested in shooting would derive from a club which would train and develop one, the members of last year's team who returned to school this year got together and, led by Mr. Fehr, organized the present club. This differs from its predecessors by being organized under the rules laid down by the N. R. A. Already it has a large and flourishing membership representing the various departments of the University. Moreover, it is not compelled to shoot on a borrowed range, but has one of its own in the basement of the Engineering building, where the future marksmen of the country may, at times, be heard shooting the bull's-eyes out of the targets.

AMONG the many new organizations springing up in the University, one has appeared which fills a real need and is a necessary adjunct to the success of a University Spirit. A Students' Union has been formed, similar to those of other Universities. Its purpose is simple and praiseworthy: to afford the students in the University a place and an organization where matters of general interest can be discussed and in which any person of the University is entitled to membership.

An organization of this sort must begin at the beginning; it will require time and enthusiasm to raise it to a commanding position, but the beginning is there and the future can safely be trusted to its members. The University has performed its share in an extremely practical and substantial manner, by providing and furnishing a room which is reserved exclusively for the members of the Union.

This room is situated on the fourth floor of the administration building, fronting on Fifteenth Street; it is large and comfortable, and is furnished with plush chairs, desks, electric lights, etc.

A constitution for the Union was adopted at a mass-meeting of the students early in the college year. It furnishes ample provision for the government of the organization and places the election of all officers entirely in the hands of the members. The membership for the term is decidedly encouraging, and it can be safely predicted that in the near future the Students' Union will become not only one of the recognized means of reaching the University, but will be the body before which every event of general interest must eventually find its way before approval.

The University Congress.

THE University Congress, as its name indicates, is a congress composed of members of the University, either as students, members of the faculty, or graduates. In its organization and rules of procedure it follows, as near as is practicable, the rules of the House of Representatives, the aim being to provide a forum in which not only exercise in debating, but practice in parliamentary procedure as well, shall be provided.

Sessions are held weekly throughout the calendar year, which is divided into two terms. The summer term has been particularly successful for during the long vacation the Congress serves as a weekly rallying place for all those who desire to keep in touch with the University and with each other, and at the same time enjoy a spirited discussion of the topics of the day. That the debate often waxes hot, and that the keen rivalry between the opposing political parties filling the floor on either side of the center aisle taxes to the utmost the wits of the party leaders to avoid discomfiture in the numerous sallies, the occupants of the visitors' gallery at almost any session can testify.

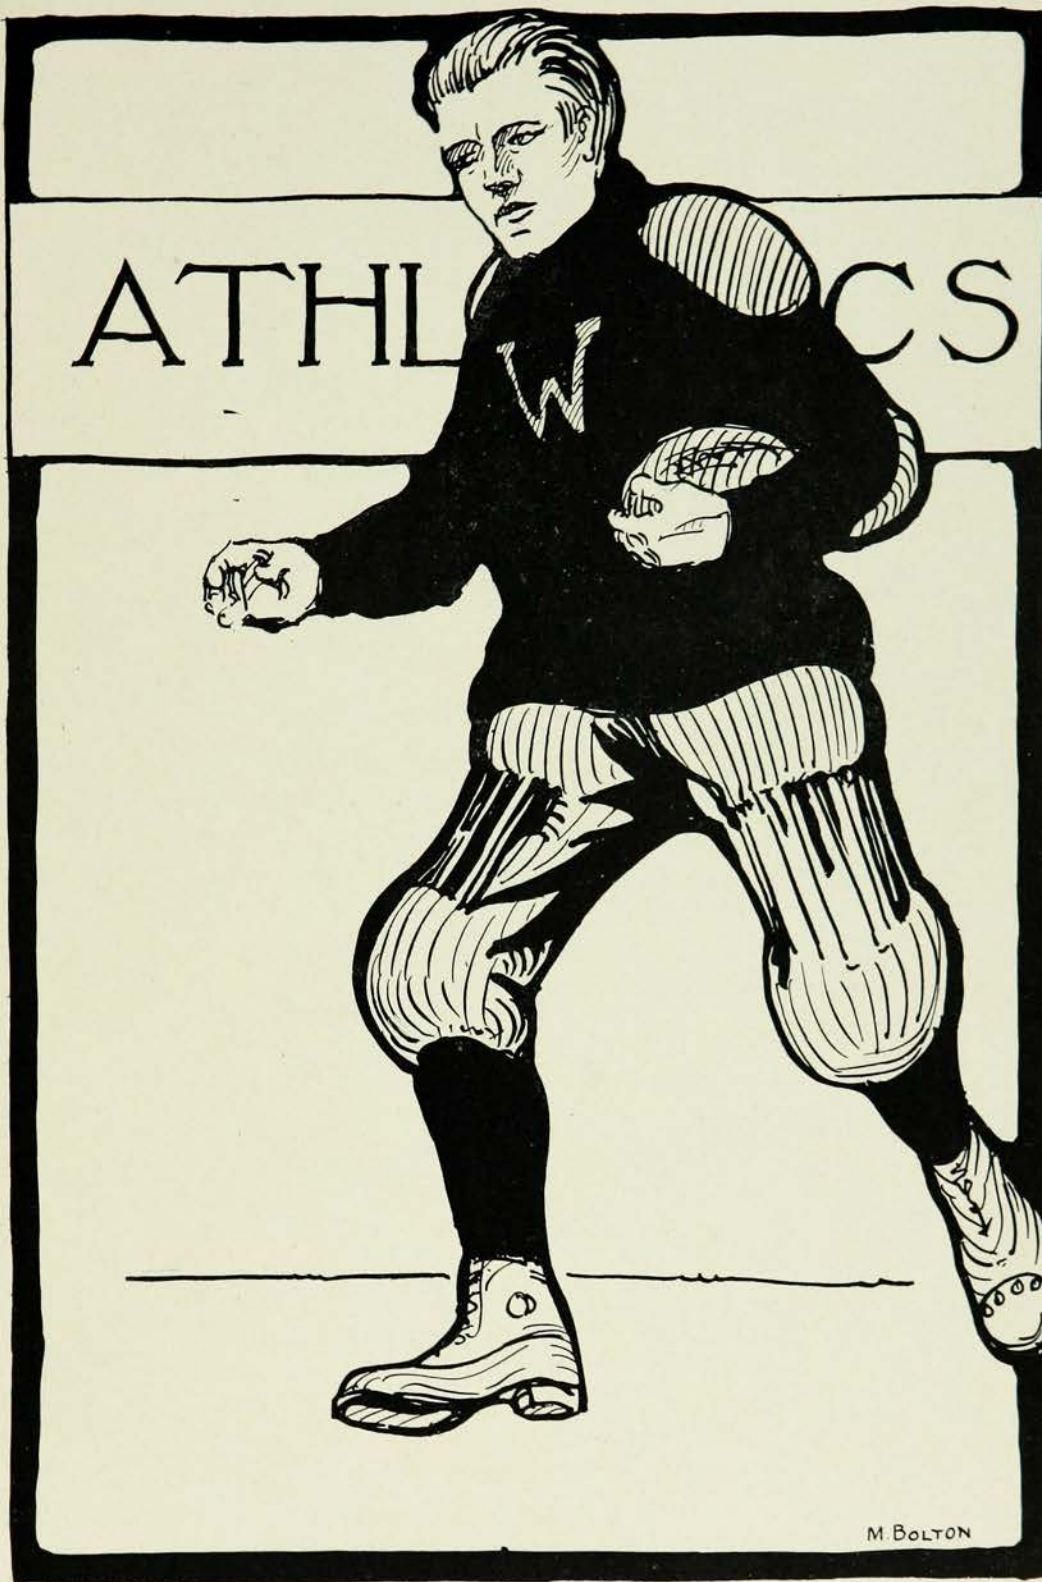

The Speaker occupies the chair for but two sessions consecutively, giving place to his successor at the end of the fortnight, that the honors, duties and good experience of the position may be shared by a greater number. Any member may participate in the debate, being granted the floor for a limited time, subject to a cross-fire of questions from the other side, thus cultivating self-assurance in extemporaneous speaking. That active participation in the proceedings of the Congress is excellent training in rapid and clear thinking and ready and forceful expression, is shown by the success of George Washington University teams in inter-collegiate debates, where particularly strong rebuttal speeches bear witness that those of our debaters who have been members of the University Congress have profited thereby.

Review of the Season

At the beginning of the school year the outlook for athletics was not very bright. The sale of the Van Ness property and the consequent loss of the University Field left the Athletic Council in doubt as to whether it would be possible to place a football team on the field this year. An appeal was made to the Trustees of the University and a prompt response came in the shape of an appropriation sufficient to provide athletic facilities for the entire season.

The football team was successful enough to clear off the old debt of $1,200 and to leave a sufficient balance to insure the carrying on of athletics at the University next year.

THE football season of 1908 was the most successful in every respect that the University has ever known. To Coach Neilsen, Captain Sommers and Manager Baer belong the credit of developing the South Atlantic Championship Team, which carried everything before it, being tied once by Bucknell and meeting defeat only at the hands of the crack team from the United States Naval Academy. The score—George Washington, 255; Opponents, 28—is sufficient proof of the worth of the team. It well deserved the enthusiastic backing of the student body, and with Captain Alston and Manager Sommers at the helm it is safe to predict that the 1909 team will duplicate the success of last year.

PHILIP R. HOOTON, Special in Architecture, graduated from the Norfolk High School in 1906. Made his "W" in 1907 at half, and played back of the line during the 1908 season. Expects to return and join the squad next year.

G. S. METSKER.

KENNETH MAXCY, College, 1911, hails from Maine. Graduated from Central High in 1907. Played end and quarter in 1907 and made his "W" again last year at end. Returns next year. Age, 19. Height, 5 feet 10 inches. Weight, 157 pounds.

GLENN S. METSKER is a graduate of the University of Washington. He joined the squad late in the season and strengthened the team very much by his good work at end. Height, 6 feet 2 inches. Weight, 185 pounds.

ROBERT LLEWELLYN POWELL attended V. P. I. two years before coming to George Washington. Played on the second team in 1907 and made his "W" by his good work at center and in the line. Age, 23. Height, 5 feet 11½ inches. Weight, 168 pounds.

R. L. POWELL.

T. H. S. SHERIDAN.

W. G. THRALL.

T. H. S. SHERIDAN, of New Hampshire, comes to us from Stanford, Cornell, Northwestern and Lehigh. Played a strong game at guard, both on the offense and defense. Expects to return next year. Age, 22. Height, 6 feet 2½ inches. Weight, 195 pounds.

WILLIAM G. THRALL, of Vermont, entered Engineering this year, coming from the McKinley Manual Training School, where he played two years on the team. Played a good game at fullback and did all the punting. He will probably return next year. Age, 21. Height, 6 feet. Weight, 157 pounds.

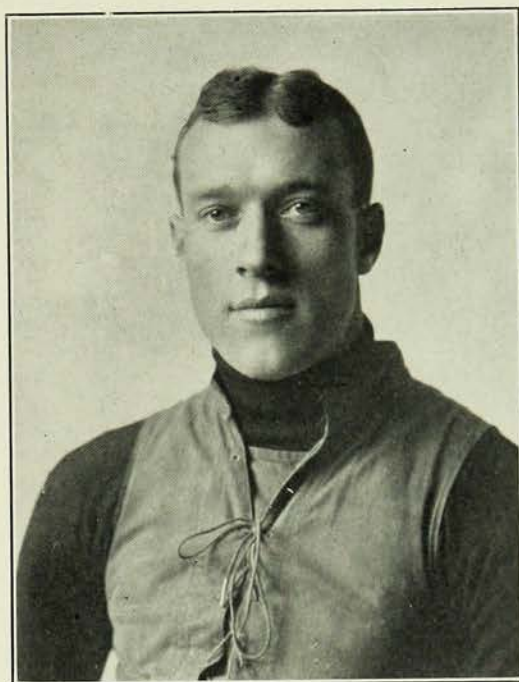

A. B. WITTEN.

AUBREY B. WITTEN, of Missouri, entered the University in 1907, coming from Emerson Institute. Played on the 1907 team, and in 1908 received his second "W" for his work at end. Returns next year. Age, 22. Height, 6 feet 1 inch. Weight, 165 pounds.

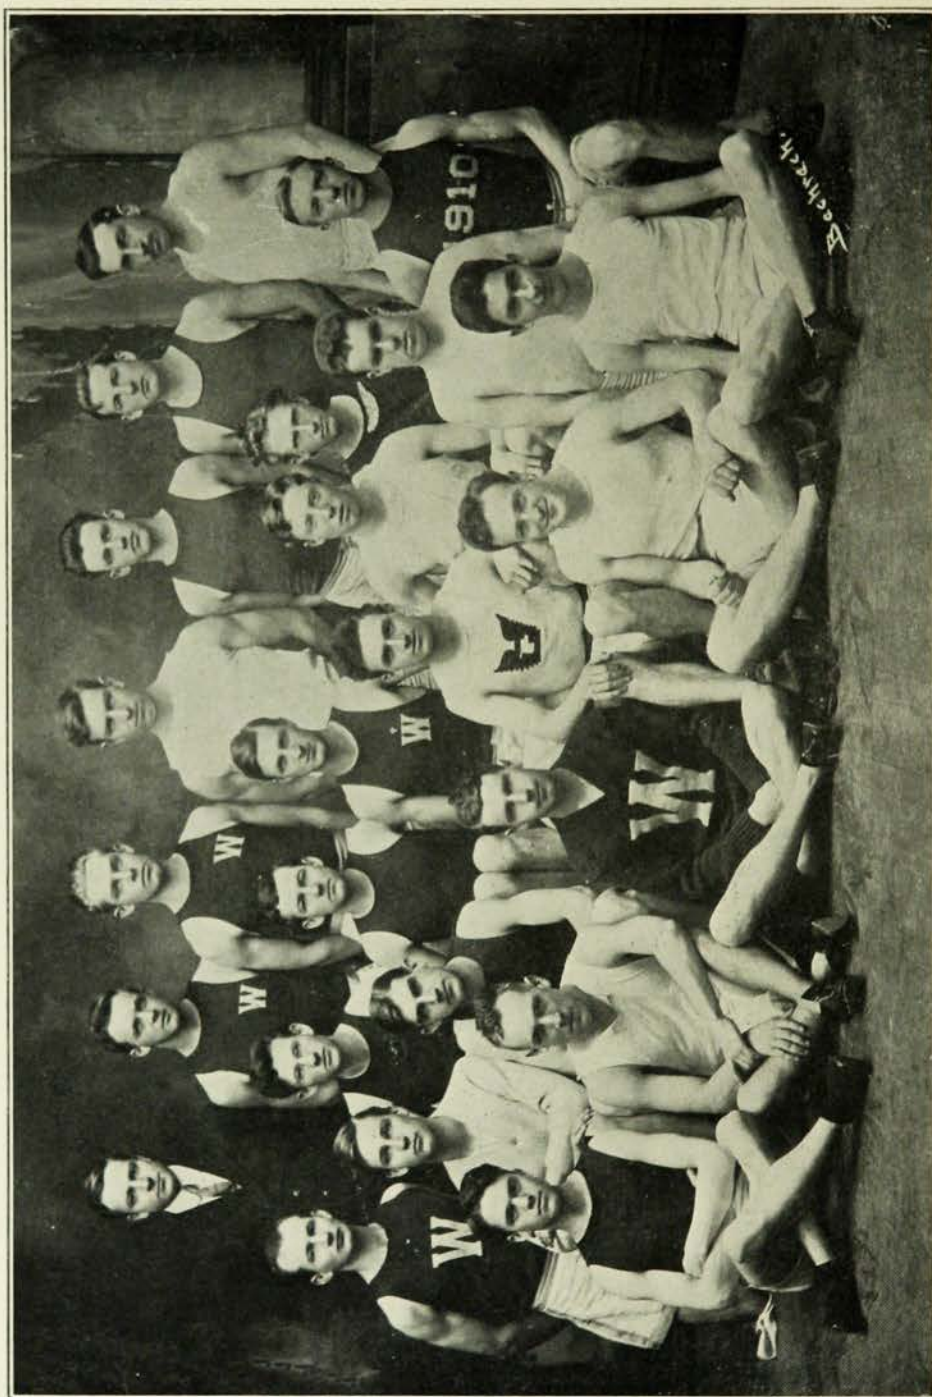

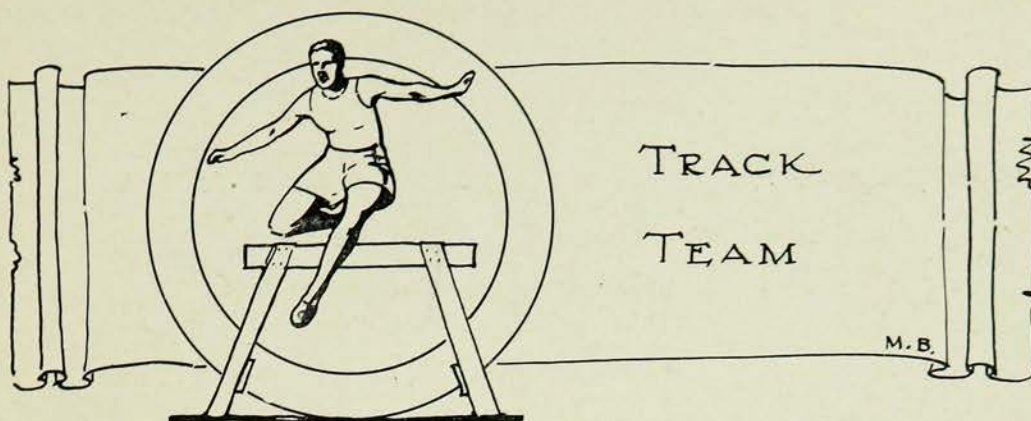

W. C. JACOBSEN.

WALTER C. JACOBSEN, Law, 1912, of Minnesota, died January 22, 1909. He graduated from the High School at Sleepy Eye, Minn., in 1903, and from the College at Fargo, N. D. He joined the football squad late in the season, and proved to be one of the best men that has ever worn the "W." His loss will be greatly felt by the team and student body, with whom he was very popular.

TRACK TEAM.

THE Second Annual Indoor Field and Track Meet of the George Washington University was held February 13 at Convention Hall. Although the local team did not score a very large number of points, the meet was a very great success and reflects much credit on Manager Newhouser, Captain Clagett and Assistant Managers Eaton, Keats and Wenderoth. It was due to the untiring efforts of these men that this important event was carried to such a successful conclusion.

The University of Virginia men captured the honors and the Inter-Collegiate Cup, while the Scholastic Cup went to Baltimore City College.

R. L. J. NEWHOUSER, manager of the 1908 Track Team, is a member of the Senior Class of the College. He has been closely identified with college athletics during the past four years. He was captain of the Basketball Team in his Sophomore year, a member of the team in 1907, assistant manager of Track Team in 1907. Much credit is due him for the success of the 1909 meet.

H. NOBLE CLAGETT, captain of the 1908 Track Team, is in the College Department. He has been a member of the Track Team for three consecutive years. Before entering George Washington he attended the Washington Central High School, where he was a member of the Track Team and prominently identified with athletics.

T. H. S. SHERIDAN, a member of the 1908 Football Team, was awarded second prize in the shot put. He will be a great addition to the 1909 Track Team, as well as to the Football Squad.

RUSSEL PATTERSON, College, comes from Dartmouth, where he was well known in athletics. He took first place in the 50-yard novice, and is regarded as a coming star.

JOHN A. STERRETT took a degree of B.S. in E.E. in 1908, returning this year in post-graduate work. He has been a member of the Track Team every year since entering College, serving as captain in his Senior year. He was for three consecutive years the Southern champion in the pole vault. Owing to a bad ankle he was unable to come up to his usual form in the last meet, but succeeded in getting second place.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines ENOSINIAN in a naughty world."

THE Enosinian Society is now in its eighty-seventh year of existence, and is, therefore, the oldest student organization in the University. In the earlier days social affairs were prominent, but with the rise of fraternities in American colleges, these features have been abandoned and the Society has been left free to give its undivided attention to debating and to extemporaneous speaking. The Enosinian is now an organization open alike to all men in the University who desire to acquire proficiency in debate and speaking extempore.

Since 1906 the Society has been represented by one or more of its members on each of the Inter-Collegiate debating teams, and has given the Law School societies some close and interesting contests.
